ANOTHER RED-HAIRED BEAUTY IN CASE

Introduction of Mystery Woman Creates Sensation in Divorce Suit

New York, Oct. 10.—A red-haired mystery woman, injected into the W. E. D. Stokes divorce case by Samuel Untermyer, counsel for Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, created one of the biggest sensations in the five years' life of the case.

Untermyer intimated that the woman who frequented the love nest of Edgar T. Wallace, oil man and former official of the Interborough Subway Company, named by W. E. D. Stokes as the corespondent, was not Mrs. Stokes, but a titian-haired beauty known to Mrs. Stokes.

WORE PINK "NIGHTIE."

She looked like Mrs. Stokes and it was she and not Mrs. Stokes who wore the pink silk "nightie," if anybody wore it, the defence claims.

The intimation brought a direct challenge from Max D. Steuer, chief counsel for the aged millionaire.

"We demand that this women be produced in court if they know who she was," he shouted.

When the uproar had subsided, Supreme Court Justice Jeremiah T. Mahoney said simply, "the trial is not yet over."

QUAKE FELT IN WASHINGTON; SHOCKS LAST OVER AN HOUR

Washington, Oct. 10.—Earth tremors of pronounced intensity were recorded early today on the seismograph at the Georgetown University observatory. Beginning at 2:20 A. M. the tremors reached a maximum intensity about thirty minutes later and continued until 3.48 A. M.

Director Tondorf of the observatory estimated the centre of the disturbance to be 3,500 miles from Washington, apparently in a southerly direction.

ATTACKER OF GIRL, 14, HUNTED

Winchester Posses Comb the Countryside for Assailant of High School Miss

A pretty Winchester High School girl of the freshman class was attacked in the exclusive residential section as she made her way home from the residence of her music teacher.

She was thrown to the ground on Highland avenue, dragged to underbrush near the North Reservoir and then told by her assailant, a man in his thirties, not to move until she had "counted two hundred." He fled.

Today, Winchester, aghast at the brutality of the assault, sped up police machinery to apprehend the assailant. He is known to have attempted an attack on another Winchester girl two weeks ago.

His latest victim is under the care of a physician. The scene of the assault is not 200 yards from her home.

It was announced today that the name of the assailant was known and an arrest was but a matter of a few hours.

The victim is fourteen years old. She had been to the home of a relative to take a piano lesson. The relatives' son, fifteen years old, accompanied the girl almost to her home. He left her as she was about to turn into the street where she lives.

It is an exclusive residential neighborhood with homes quite far apart. "Bye-bye," waved the girl. The boy waved and ran. He had vanished over the crest of a hill when a man sprang at the girl. She screamed. He muffled her cries, then dragged her to the underbrush.

The man sought as the girl's assailant is said to be a helper on a truck.

DYNAMITE HOME OF 'DRY' OFFICER

Steubenville, O., Oct. 10.—The home of Charles Pearce, 36 years old, prohibition enforcement officer at Smithfield, O., west of here, was blown up today by dynamite. Pearce, his wife and baby escaped serious injury.

The blast partially wrecked the City Hall, opposite the Pearce home; the Spragg restaurant, the home of Mrs. Mary Merryman and broke windows in three score residences.

The dynamite, placed under the front of Pearce's house, wrecked the structure and it collapsed inward.

ELOPING GIRL LANDS IN CELL; BIRTHDAY PARTY CALLED OFF

Webster, Oct. 10.—Agnes Wilson, seventeen and pretty, would have had seventeen candles on her birthday cake if she had obeyed her parents and remained at home at No. 2 River street, Charlton.

Today, instead of gazing on seventeen candles, she is peering through seventeen bars of a cell in jail here. Arthur William Bouilier, twenty-eight, a widower, is in a cell nearby. They were arrested yesterday by the State police. Bouilier is charged with abducting the girl. She is charged with being a stubborn child.

Her parents made a complaint when Bouilier took her to Worcester after promising to marry her. He lives in Laconia, N. H.

WOMAN WHO KILLED PRIEST HAS BROTHER A MURDERER

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Motives similar to those which induced Miroslav Sichchinsky to assassinate Count Andreas Pototsky, Governor of Galicia, in 1908, caused his sister, Mrs. Emily Strutynsky, to kill Rev. Basil Stetsuk, Ukrainian priest, last Sunday morning in St. Michael the Archangel Church here, the brother said, after visiting his sister in jail.

Sichchinsky, a professor in English and Ukrainian at a Ukrainian college in Rochester, N. Y., accompanied his sister's husband, Rev. Nicholas Strutynsky of Ramey, Pa., to Chicago.

He said he shot the governor because "he laughed at the starving masses." His sister, he said, shot Father Stetsuk because he told her "everybody should mind his own business," when she asked about conditions among Ukrainians in the old country.

Mrs. Strutynsky, under examination by an alienist, declared she would rather die for the killing than be freed and have her motive misunderstood.

'WOLF' LAMAR IN EL PASO JAIL; NEW YORK POLICE TO GET HIM

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 10.—David Lamar, widely known as the "Wolf of Wall street," is in the El Paso County jail after a chase that lasted eight months and covered a large portion of Canada, the United States and Mexico.

Lamar forfeited a $25,000 bail bond when he fled from New York after being convicted of conspiring to interfere with foreign commerce in war time. Twice the case was carried to the Supreme Court of the United States and as often upheld. When the case was finally affirmed, but before the mandate of the court reached New York, Lamar disappeared.

YANKEES ARE 6 TO 5 FAVORITES

Babe Ruth Overshadows All Interests in Opening Battle at New York Stadium

New York, Oct. 10.—The biggest World Series crowd ever recorded was expected to cheer the preliminary practice of the New York Giants and Yankees opening the 20th World Series in the famous Yankee Stadium today. More than 63,000 were jammed into the enclosure used for the first time in a World Series.

The Yanks were 6 to 5 betting favorites to win the opening game. This despite their losing to the same opponents the last two World Series.

"Babe" Ruth was the big individual figure.

Comment centered about whether the "Bambino" would "deliver" this year.

He has been a flivver two years running, proving with all his ability and color that he is not what fans call a "Money player." A "money player" is one who shines in a World Series.

Next to the Babe in importance came the pitching selections. Artie Nehf, southpaw, was slated to pitch for the Giants. "I think his

AUTO-STROP RAZOR MAKES SOUTH BOSTON BOY HAPPY

The happiest boy in South Boston today is Edwin M. Jones, of No. 72 Gales street.

Edwin's happiness resulted from the Auto-Strop safety razor offer of the Boston American.

You see, Edwin had been contemplating his first shave for many weeks past. But he didn't dare take the old fashioned straight razor in his hand and start the trick.

When he saw the stories in the maker of No. 13 East Thirty-fifth street, the building in which the "Wallace apartment" was located, after testifying that she had seen Mrs. Stokes several times "on the stairs and on the landing" finally qualified her testimony on cross-examination by saying that the "red-haired woman looked like Mrs. Stokes."

Mrs. Nellie Rose Miller, the colored "pantry maid," who left Chicago hurriedly "because the officers were after her" in the Stokes conspiracy case, admitted that she had wilfully perjured herself.

CAUGHT IN LIES.

Mrs. Miller had a hectic time of it during her cross-examination by Samuel Untermyer. She was caught in countless lies when her testimony was compared with a deposition she made in Chicago in the investigation by the grand jury which returned indictments against Stokes, his lawyer, Daniel Nugent, and five of his colored witnesses.

On her direct examination she stated she had seen Mrs. Stokes in the bedroom of Wallace's apartment at least six times when she served her with food from the tea room down stairs. In Chicago she had testified that she had never seen Mrs. Stokes in the bedroom, but in the kitchenette.

TRAIL OF HUSBANDS.

Mrs. Miller's little remaining credibility was destroyed when Untermyer turned a searchlight on her past life. Although only twenty-three, the witness admitted to having lived under four names and having left a trail of husbands or sweethearts from New York to St. Louis, Mo.

REASONING WITNESS.

Mrs. Goodwin or, as she called herself, Mme. Goodwin, was a woman of business and responded almost in an across-the-desk office manner to Mr. Untermyer's queries. He promptly began to reason with her; she was a reasoning woman.

Samuel Untermyer

Mrs. Helen Stokes

"Isn't it possible," he argued, "that after a lapse of years one might mistake a woman one hadn't seen but a few times?"

"Well," she replied frankly, "anything in this world is possible."

Then Mr. Untermyer for the 'steenth time:

"But you positively and without the slightest shadow of a doubt insist that it was Mrs. Stokes who passed you on the stairs leading to the Wallace apartment?"

UNSURE OF IDENTITY.

"Well," came the rejoinder, "I wouldn't want anybody to be hung on my testimony."

Mr. Untermyer pounced on the admission. He asked quickly:

"Would you want anybody to be divorced on your testimony?"

The reply was "No."

The witness was frankly annoyed about having to testify because it was "very invenient."

Furthermore, she wanted nothing more to do with this whole affair, adding.

"I don't follow these divorce cases. I tend to my own business."

OLD STORY RE-ENACTED.

The story of the ages was being re-enacted again here today—man against woman; husband against wife; December against May—William Earl Dodge Stokes, 73, millionaire clubman, judge of fine horses and beautiful women, against his wife, Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, mother of his children forty years his junior.

Outside the none too large tribunal of the supreme court, Justice Mahoney, crowds, mostly women and girls, pleaded for admission to the divorce drama with its lurid patterings. Inside, the five-year legal battle—Stokes' effort to paint his wife in colors of scarlet; Mrs. Stokes' defense for honor—went into its third day, with new promises of surprise and sensations in almost every line of the drama.

WORTH LOOKING AT.

The woman—she is small, soft feminine, of delicately tinted complexion. Her eyes, which flash and defy, are a gray-blue. Her mouth is small. Her nose tip-tilted. Each day she dresses the same—a severely tailored suit of navy twill; blue turban, fitting close about her head, hiding her mass of gold-red hair. A fox fur softens her features.

The man—thick, massive, he sits alone, taking notes of the hearing or twirling the ends of his Hohenzollern mustache. His face is long and thin and lined. His eyes, penetrating, restless and searching, are black. Time has deal lightly with him.

"A HORRIBLE LIE."

The trial, it is expected, will run for the next five weeks. Each new day, attorneys promised, would bring new sensations.

The names of James A. Stillman, Tex Rickard, Jack Desaulles, Marshall Field, Jr., W. E. D. Stokes, Jr., Peggy Hopkins Joyce, Peggy Marsh, Jean Sawyer and more than a score of other nationally known figures, will enter the case, attorneys for both sides say.

"I'll prove every charge—every one" is Stokes only comment. "It's all a lie, a horrible lie," Mrs. Stokes answers.

the walls and roof falling into the basement. Pearce, his wife and 17-months-old baby were thrown into the cellar with the debris.

Pearce extricated himself, rescued his baby and then, with the aid of neighbors, dug his wife from the ruins, after an hour's hard work. The baby was cut and bruised. Mrs. Pearce's back was injured and she suffered greatly from shock.

Mrs. Merryman's home adjoining was so badly wrecked that the aged lady, who had been seriously ill, was removed from the tottering structure with ladders to the second floor.

The damage caused by the explosion is estimated in excess of $20 000.

Miners en route to work claim to have seen four strangers near the Pearce home and others report they saw an automobile with several men passengers leaving the town at high speed shortly before the blast.

Sheriff Lucas is working on the theory that liquor law violators prosecuted by Pearce were responsible for the outrage. Pearce has been openly threatened by bootleggers arrested recently.

Some Minus Signs
Cryptaesthesia Saves Woman
War Does NOT Pay
Why Not Join?

Current Events

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1923, by Star Company.

THE STOCK MARKET had a minus attack yesterday, minus signs scattered all along. Something is frightening the gentlemen that live by speculation, but what is it? Consult specialists in mail order business and you will learn that apart from diamonds and a few other luxuries, the people are buying better than ever. Nothing to worry about for the present at least.

PROFESSOR RICHET of the French Academy of Medicine says woman possesses a faculty, called cryptaesthesia. That's scientific name for intuition, woman's strange power to judge character at a glance; her ability, instantly, to tell truth from falsehood.

Cryptaesthesia is older than the French Academy of Medicine, older than the Pyramids. Women practiced that faculty a hundred thousand years ago, when their husbands came wandering in late from the cave across the valley. It's their one safeguard.

ONCE MORE the solution of the Ruhr situation starts, with all applauding. Big financiers that control the German government have arranged to get whatever they want. They think that they and Germany—they coming first—will be able to satisfy France and Belgium.

THOSE TWO countries will take a great deal of satisfying. Meanwhile, yesterday you could buy a billion marks for less than a dollar. In other words, the American dollar in German money is worth two hundred and fifty million times what it was before the war.

War doesn't pay.

PROFESSOR IRVING FISHER, of Yale, thinks this country ought to join the League of Nations, and asks why we hesitate, when fifty-four other countries have entered the League. Suppose fifty-four individuals, bankrupt or half bankrupt, entered a bankruptcy club, and asked John D. Rockefeller, "Why don't you come in; we are all in"? Rockefeller's answer to that club would be the answer that the United States gives to the League of Nations.

WHY DID THE fifty-four nations join the League? asks Professor Fisher. They joined because, in addition to being bankrupt or nearly, they are afraid of each other, afraid of themselves. Their attitude was something like that of the man who goes to the police and asks to be locked up because he thinks he is going crazy, and prefers to stay at large.

MR. EMMONS, president of the Electric Railway Association, says public ownership means Socialist government and an end of a prosperous nation.

Mr. Emmons is unnecessarily worried.

What about the post office? That's government ownership, and quite successful. Nobody imagines that any private company would carry a letter from Miami to Seattle for two cents.

What about the Panama canal? That's government ownership and government construction also. Quite successful, after private effort failed.

IT MAY BE that Americans don't elect officials honest or capable enough to manage publicly-owned monopolies. But they may do it some day.

Private capacity and monopoly is a greater menace to national prosperity and sanity than government ownership.

Aftermath of Divorce Case Which Wife Won on the Grounds of Cruelty

Portland, Me., Oct. 10.—Niels Gron of Portland, Me., former Danish diplomat, who was divorced by his wife after sensational testimony here six months ago, today filed suit in Supreme Court for $25,000 against his former father-in-law, Harden W. Masters of this city, alleging defamation of character.

The suit is understood to have had its origin in statements which Gron avers were made by Masters at the time of the divorce suit, which Mrs. Gron won on grounds of extreme cruelty. She alleged that he had accused her and members of the Masters family of immorality and had printed malicious statements against her, which he threatened to make public.

Later Gron was barred by Portland's Mayor from making speeches in Pythian Temple, attacking the integrity of the courts. He gained more publicity by his attempts to see his son, Neils Gron, Jr., who was awarded to his mother. Mrs. Sadie Gowan Gron, whom he wed six weeks after his former wife was granted her freedom, interceded for him.

Rev. M. J. Murphy, chaplain of the Charlestown State Prison, Rev. L. Thoma of the Sacred Heart Church, Rabbi M. L. Sedar, Mrs. E. J. It was thought that much good might come out of such a committee as the one named above, so it was tried out.

JUDGE ADMONISHES 228 YOUNG LAWYERS

"No man can be a successful lawyer who is without respect for the courts and who is indifferent to public welfare," Judge John C. Crosby declared in admitting 228 young men women to the bar.

Judge Crosby cautioned the young lawyers to avoid practices which are injurious to the community and which cause criticism of the legal profession. Clerk of Court John F. Cronin gave the oath of attorney to the new barristers. Four of 232 applicants failed to appear to take the oath.

BOY, 10, GIVES HIS 'GANG' A JOY RIDE

"Johnny" Reber is a "good guy," in the opinion of his pals.

He's smart, too. He can drive automobiles and everything, although only ten years old.

"Johnny," who lives at No. 109 Cambridge street, Charlestown, decided his gang needed a little outing. So he "borrowed" a large seven-seated touring car, standing on Roland street, East Somerville.

Johnny Reber.

Herding the "gang" into the machine, "Johnny" slipped into the driver's seat. Nonchalantly starting the engine and going into gear, "Johnny" swung the big machine away from the curb and down the street.

Patrolman Timothy J. Corkery of the Somerville police looked up and saw a large car containing a number of small boys proceeding apparently without a driver. He rubbed his eyes and looked again. Then he detected a small head covered with a ragged cap, which barely reached up to the steering whele.

He shouted "Stop," but Johnny "gave her the gas." Corkery pursued and captured the car, which was sullenly brought to a stop by the youthful chauffeur. The "gang" basely deserted their leader.

Corkery took the wheel and drove his prisoner to the station, where Lieutenant Harmon released "Johnny" with a warning that the next time he was inclined to go joy-riding to walk instead.

TROOPS BATTLE FOREST FIRE IN NORTHWEST

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 10.—Forest fires are raging over the Northern parts of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Five towns are seriously threatened, one life has been lost, Great Lakes navigation and bus line service are hampered by smoke and thousands of dollars worth of property has been destroyed.

Hundreds of small fires which have been burning for some time united and became a menace as they swept on with renewed vigor under an all-day West wind.

J. J. Blaine, governor of Wisconsin, has ordered out the superior units of the Wisconsin National Guard to fight the fire raging through the State park at Manitou Falls.

Hundreds of men are back-firing through heavy brush to save the village of Blueberry, a small Douglas County community. Three farms north of Brule have been burned out and all cattle destroyed.

Ontonagon, the seat of Ontonagon County, is threatened by fires surrounding the village, and the town of Green, six miles away, is in danger. Lumbermen estimate sixty square miles already have been burned over. Farmers in that locality, as well as several in Houghton, Keweenaw and Baraga counties, are moving to open spaces for safety.

Douglas, Ashland, Bayfield and Ironwood counties in Wisconsin are dotted with flames. Breathing there is described as torture and heavy smoke hangs low over the land.

REMOVAL OF GEN. WOOD DEMANDED

Coolidge Will Be Asked to Fire Philippines' Governor Because of Election

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

Washington, Oct. 10 (C.N.S.)—President Coolidge will be asked to remove General Leonard Wood as governor-general of the Philippines as the result of the special election held there.

Wood's administration has been accused of a desire to drive the Filipino government out of all profitable business enterprises and to permit foreign business interests to have a free hand.

The election, under conditions favorable to Wood, was in the Fourth Senatorial District, which includes Manila, where the American electorate is largest. The candidates were Jose Fernandez, who had resigned as Mayor of Manila as a protest against General Wood, and Judge Sumulong of the Democrata party, who denounced the expressions against Wood as "ridiculous, frivolous and fictitious."

In the last preceding election, June 22, 1922, the Democrata candidate carried the district over the combined vote of all other parties by 13,399. Yet Fernandez, the anti-Wood candidate, has now defeated Wood's defender by 16,000 votes to [illegible] votes.

President Coolidge has declared his faith in Wood largely because of the attitude of the Harding administration. The Filipinos will approach him with the request for appointment of a new governor general on the ground that the President has not himself passed on the issues of the protest and that the recent election contains a final condemnation of the American governor-general by the Filipino people themselves. The Philippine cabinet and Council of State and the Senate and House of Representatives had already unanimously adopted resolutions against Wood.

GRIEVING MATE LEFT HER ALL

Rector Who Longed for "Real Home" Blamed Self for Marital Troubles

New York, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Mary Tupper Jones, known on the stage under the names of Pauline La Verne and Mary Tupper and who played with Frank Bacon in "Lightnin'," is the widow of the Rev. John William Jones, Episcopal clergyman, who shot and killed himself in a Kansas City Hotel.

Mrs. Jones, who was bequeathed all of the clergyman's property, amounting to about $5,000, in a letter found beside his body, came to New York about three weeks ago with her five children in search of work.

In the letter to his wife, he said the fault for marital troubles was largely his, and that they could not seem to get anywhere on the divorce question. He indicated the trouble had been brewing for the last six years.

ASKS FORGIVENESS.

Another letter to a friend, Mr. Pitcaithly, asked him to find his wife and children and inform them of his death.

The letter to his wife read in part:

"I am well in body and mind, but sick in heart and soul, and have decided to go beyond the vale. I hope to meet my God and to be forgiven of all my sins—even this, goodby and may God bless you all. (Signed) John.

The letter to his friend, dated October 6, read as follows:

"My dear Pitcaithly: My wife and children are somewhere in New York, and I ask you to look after mailing this letter and get in touch with them. The children's names are: Isabell, nine years old; John Starr, seven; Walter Tupper, 6; Paul Robert, 4; Theodore, 3. My wife's stage name is Pauline Laverne, or Mary Tupper Jones, or just Mary Tupper. They probably can be reached through the theatrical or motion picture people of New York.

SHOWED SIGNS OF STRAIN.

"Bishop Lloyd is a friend of my father, and might help in any way, if needed. Letters left in my coat will help you in understanding the situation. Sincerely yours,

"(Signed)
"JOHN WILLIAM JONES."

Mr. Jones had shown signs of mental and physical strain for the last six months. He had been in Hutchinson, Kansas, two years, and resigned a month ago to go to Philadelphia.

Several friends, who had received letters from him postmarked Philadelphia were surprised to hear that he was in Kansas City, as he had said nothing of his intention to return there.

In his letter to his wife he speaks of service in Westchester, probably meaning Westchester county, Pennsylvania, near Philadelphia.

NEW INITIATIVE PETITION STARTED

An initiative petition asking that the question of calling a Constitutional convention be placed on the ballot at the next State election was drawn up and the form approved by Attorney General Jay R. Benton. The petition was started by Miss Margaret Taylor of No. 62 Pinckney street and nine other voters of Boston. Before the question can be placed on the ballot advocates of the measure are required to secure the signatures of 20,000 registered voters of the State and file them with Secretary of State Frederick W. Cook on or before December 5.

B. U. FRESHIES WEAR PUFFS ON OUTSIDE AND TEA APRONS

The swan song of the season's hazing program at Boston University College of Liberal Arts was sung today by a mixed chorus of happy sophomores and upper classmen and the Freshmen girl initiates of the Gamma Delta Society—not so happy.

Environs of the college resembled an out-door tearoom with Bohemian ambitions. The sorority initiates wore, through the day, tea aprons and unusual coiffures. One of the rules laid down to the hapless Freshmen was that stuffing from the hair must be removed and pinned on the outside, also, the initiates were compelled on demand to carry books of their initiators.

The girls, by order, reported at the college at 8:30. Followed reading of original poems, prescribed as one of the several duties for all initiates. The hazing exercises were held in the Gamma Delta room. After the ceremony refreshments were served.

The committee in charge comprised: Dorothy Fontaine of Fall River, Josephine Topping of Benton Harbor, Mich.; Dorothy Colby of Newton Upper Falls, Louise Murphy of Winthrop and Ruth Huyl of Hingham.

NEGROES ORDERED TO LEAVE TOWN AFTER MAN IS SLAIN

Pittsburgh, Oct. 10.—Today a few negroes were reported to have left Stowe Township during the night, following an order given by a self-appointed vigilance committee that every negro in the township quit the community within twenty-four hours. Others were reported as preparing to leave.

According to the police of the township, the action of the committee came as the result of the slaying last Saturday night of Thomas Rowland and the wounding of his granddaughter, Edith Colter, by a negro on a lonely hillside. The negro escaped and the police have no tangible clues as to his identity.

Honeymoon Opens With Visit to Morgue

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—After eloping to New York, a Philadelphia girl enjoyed the novel experience of spending the first hours of her honeymoon in the morgue there. She is Mrs. Willard L. Weiner, formerly Miss Grace Katz.

Weiner, a newspaper man, was in this city to "cover" an angle of the Webb case. Miss Katz went back with him to New York. After their secret marriage, Weiner was assigned to the morgue to secure the report of toxicologists, and the elopers were forced to remain in the morgue several hours.

Junior League Girls Busy on Charity Enterprise, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN

"NOW is the time for all good Junior League girls to get together." And they are, for there are hundreds of red stockings to be filled so that the League may bring the same good cheer to as many places this Christmas as it did last year.

Miss Elinor K. Sutton is chairman of the Red Stocking Committee—as they call it—with the Misses Mary Hall, Marian S. Fenno and Mildred P. Rogers to help her.

The idea of the red stocking is something like this: The League distributes the red stockings at churches and settlement houses and to every Junior League girl to be filled. The money raised thereby buys countless greens, trees, ornaments and wreaths which, at Chrismas time, are sent to hospitals, settlement houses and welfare stations.

SPEAKING of the Junior League the list of girls elected to membership in the League this Fall has just been made known. Needless to say, it caused the usual number of flutterings and falterings of the cardiac organ, for now that the Sewing Circle is a thing of the past, the Junior League has come to take its place. The list, of course, is far too long to be printed in this column.

To judge by the number of festivities which are being planned in honor of the debutantes for the coming season, the buds of '23-'4 are going to have rather a hectic time. The first bud function of the season was held on Saturday when Mrs. Ernest W. Bowditch gave a tea at the Milton home to introduce her younger daughter, Miss Sarah Higginson Bowditch.

Next month there will be another important deb affair out Milton way, when Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Herrick (Margaret Perkins Rice) give a dinner dance on the 22nd at the Milton Club in honor of Mr. Herrick's daughter, Miss Alice Herrick. Mr. Herrick was for many years coach of the Crimson crew.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE WINDELER and their daughter, Miss Evelyn Windeler, have returned to their home on Bay State road after spending a year in England, Mr. Windeler's former home.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD SEARS HUMPHREY (Marion Van Buren Emmons) have taken an apartment for the season at No. 261 Beacon street. Mrs. Humphrey, whose marriage to the Harvard football star was an important nuptial event of last June, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Emmons of England. The wedding took place here in Boston at Emmanuel Church, Mr. and Mrs. Emmons coming over from England to be present.

MRS. HOMER B. RICHARDSON and her daughter, Miss M. Frances Clark, are to be for the Winter at No. 43 West Cedar street. About a year or so ago Mrs. Richardson sold her home on Marlboro street and shortly afterwards she and Miss Clark sailed on a long trip around the world.

MRS. FRANKLIN W. HOBBS and her daughter, Miss Rebekah Hobbs, have returned to their Beacon street house after a long season spent in the White Mountains.

MISS MARY HALL

Miss Hall, who made her debut two seasons ago and is a member of the Vincent Club, has just been made a member of the Red Stocking Committee of the Junior League.

LLOYD GEORGE AT VETS' HOSPITAL

Toronto, Oct. 10 (AP).—The Christie Street Permanent Military Hospital, where hundreds of disabled soldiers are quartered, was the first place visited by David Lloyd George today.

Thousands of school children strewed flowers for the procession. All schools suspended classes.

Lloyd George greeted his welcomers with happy smiles, nods and handclasps. His wife and daughter were almost overcome by the warmth of their reception.

After luncheon at Government House, the party attended the World Brotherhood convention, where the ex-Premier delivered an address. All will attend a dinner at Government House tonight.

CRANBERRIES TO SOAR IN PRICE

Cranberries are the latest to join the aerial staples.

The State Department of Agriculture today warned housewives to lay in their cranberries for the holidays now, as the price is about to advance.

No reasons are given, it being stated the drought has failed to injure the quality of the berry, although making it smaller. It is estimated the crop will be about 322,000 barrels, valued at nearly $3,000,000.

The present retail price is 12 to 15 cents a pound, but a movement is under way to force an increase.

WOMEN BLOCK PEACE ABROAD BY THEIR HATE

Will women establish peace in Europe?

"Women are called the world's great peace makers, but in Europe today they start fires to destroy property, hurl rocks at the enemy and join mobs to wreck buildings.

"Race hatreds are as strong if not stronger among women than among men says Willis H. Booth, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York and honorary vice-president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

"Mothers pass down their own smouldering hatred of the enemy to their children. They can't seem to find any charity in their hearts. Women with small children join mobs.

"The world today looks to its women to bring back peace and normal times," he said. "Men depend more than they know on the woman's judgment. Their influence in Europe should be turned in constructive, rather than in destructive channels."

Mr. Booth spoke of the need for sympathy and understanding which is so lacking among the peoples of foreign nations. Just returned from the other side, he spoke of having seen during the Summer terrible examples of the race hatred that is keeping the world from peace.

"The European women of the lower class have not had the advantages of education. Their emotions have been so stirred they can't seem to recover," he said.

"It is strange that reconstruction in Europe should be slow where the people for so many generations have grown accustomed to wars."

Mr. Booth insisted that nothing could be done from the outside to change this condition. "There is only one hope," he said, and that is to make the women consider what this hatred is doing to their homes and children."

FIND BODY HANGING ON ANDOVER FARM

Andover, Oct. 10.—The body of a man was found today hanging to the limb of a tree in a grove near Hackett Pond by Edward Hardy, owner of the land.

A five dollar bill was pinned inside the dead man's pocket. The body was clothed in khaki trousers, blue denim jumper and a blue and white striped shirt. Inmates of the Tewksbury State Hospital wear similar garb and police inquiry was directed there.

The man had been dead several months. Medical Eexaminer Victor A. Reed pronounced death due to strangulation. Police say suicide.

DEBS TO RUN AGAIN IN 1924 CAMPAIGN

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 10.—Eugene V. Debs, five times candidate for President on the Socialist ticket, will again be a candidate in 1924, Otto Branstetter, secretary of the party announced here.

Mr. Debs' only statement was "I have been a candidate for President five times and have been in jail five times, and I am not so anxious to be a Presidential candidate next time."

CONSERVATIVES RULE LABOR CONVENTION

Portland, Ore., Oct. 10 (AP).—Controversial issues having been disposed of at the convention of the American Federation of Labor—with decision against participation in a labor party and refusal to adopt a resolution favoring recognition of Soviet Russia, the convention today began the work of cleaning its slate. Leaders were looking for an early adjournment and mentioned tomorrow as likely to see completion of their labors here.

Selection of the next meeting place and election of officers are among the matters yet to come before the convention.

The outcome of two lively debates was a double victory for the Administration of the Federation. Recommendations of the resolution committee, including in its personnel men prominent in the official family of the Federation, have been followed without exception.

The conservative element is riding in full control. The radicals have had something to say on the floor but have registered small minority votes on questions which have been put to roll call vote.

Pardons for Thomas W. Mooney and Warren K. Billings were asked in resolutions which were adopted.

Mooney and Billings are serving life sentences in the penitentiary for murder in connection with a bomb explosion during a Preparedness Day parade in San Francisco in 1916.

MRS. WEBB WAS POISONED AFTER FIRST ANALYSIS

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 10.—The metallic poisoning found in Mrs. Gertrude Emily Gorman Webb's body after her death was not found when an anaylsis was made two weeks earlier.

This was made known today by Dr. William J. Meyer, who said that he had ordered an examination on September 11, which proved negative. After Mrs. Webb's death an analysis performed by toxicologists showed poison had been in the body, though in quantities insufficient to cause death without contributory causes.

Judge McIntyre.

Ex-Judge Johnstone.

Charles H. Webb, the dead woman's husband, was to appear before the jury today.

The new developments have narrowed the investigation being carried on by the Westchester county grand jury down to a question of when the poison was introduced.

he first anaylsis was made September 11 by Dr. E. E. Smith of Fordham University. It was made some two weeks after Dr. Meyer had been called in to take charge of Mrs. Webb, who died on September 25 in the Westchester-Biltmore Country Club in Rye, N. Y.

Dr. Meyer, who refused to sign a death certificate, on the ground that death was not due to natural causes said he had told the Grand Jury that the first nalysis had shown no poison in the wealthy society woman's body. He explained the negative test by saying that Mrs. Webb's organs had ceased to excrete the poison at the time Dr. Smith made his examination.

George [illegible]

Dr. A. O. Gettler

"However," he said, "a residue of poison remained, which was shown in the post-mortem examination."

Numerous witnesses have been heard by the jury, including medical experts, who testified that poison which was in the body was insufficient to cause death without contributory causes, and relatives and friends of the dead woman, who stated they believed she had been murdered.

MAN ARRESTED AS SLAYER OF FIRE CHIEF

Onset, Oct. 10.—Harvey L. Welsh, forty-six years old, a former fellow employe of Fire Chief John W. Bishop, who was murdered in his garage Saturday, was arrested at the Onset railroad station as a suspect in the fire chief's death.

Due to conflicting stories told by Welsh when he was questioned, the police believe his arrest is important. He was taken into custody by Chief of Police Elwell P. Smith and Officers Elmer W. White and Louis W. Lynch, and taken to the Wareham police station.

Welsh told the police he lived on Highland street, this town. Investigation by the police failed to substantiate this statement. On his person were found a railroad ticket for Providence and a large amount of money.

The police have learned that Welsh was a railroad fireman twenty years ago when Bishop was an engineer on the Taunton division.

A clew which is believed by police to be significant was furnished by Hartley B. Shappel, a clerk at Joseph P. Galligan's drug store. The latter informed the police that both Welsh and Bishop were in his store on the night previous to the discovery of Bishop dying in the rear of his garage. Welsh, he said, was at the store a half hour before Bishop. It was the last time that Bishop was seen alive.

EXPRESS BAN IN CENTRE OF CITY, IS URGED

TRAFFIC SUGGESTION NO. 13.

The American prints today another in a series of suggestions aimed to solve or relieve Boston's acute traffic problem. The correspondent suggests barring suburban expressmen from the centre of the city and establishing clearing houses for express in various districts.

"The only way to stop the traffic jam in the shopping district," writes the correspondent, "is to remove the cause which, in my opinion, is the suburban expressmen coming into the centre of the city and calling on the various firms for their loads.

"Clearing houses for all expressmen in the four districts, on the same principle as the Boston Elevated now has at Dudley street, Sullivan, Andrew and Harvard squares, could be established. Five-ton trucks then could pick up all the freight or bundles from each store in a district at stated hours, deliver the loads at the district clearing house where it could be transferred to the various expressmen.

"The clearing houses could be placed in Charlestown, one near Dover street, a third in South Boston, near Dorchester avenue and Fourth street, and the fourth near Kenmore Station.

"Restrictions should not be placed on pleasure cars coming into the business district, for the stores are paying high rentals for good locations. Allow cars to park for a reasonable length of time, but don't let the fellow who lives out of town and works here park his car all day to the disadvantage of all others who may want only to stop a short time to do business.

Keeping Millions Free From Colds and La Grippe

W. H. Hill

W. H. HILL'S LIFE WORK

Colds cause more illness than any other human ailment. Realizing this 50 years ago, W. H. Hill determined to develop a quick-acting scientifically correct cold and la grippe remedy.

Years of research brought success. Mr. Hill discovered a most remarkable formula. He backed it with energy, faith, integrity and a name that meant "satisfaction or money back."

Today more than 4,000,000 families—one-fifth of America's population—use and recommend Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine.

The formula has never been changed in a quarter century. What Hill's has done for millions, it can do for you. Demand red box bearing Mr. Hill's portrait. All druggists, 30 cents.

GIRL OF 10 ATTACKED; BOY, 15, ARRESTED

Lawrence, Oct. 10.—Walter Heinz, 15 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heinz of No. 284 Prospect street, was arrested today charged with attacking a ten year old girl, daughter of a business man. According to the police, young Heinz took the girl to the German Presbyterian Church, East Haverhill street.

The police traced him through the number on his bicycle, found outside the church. The boy was released in $300 bonds.

BURGLARS ROB HOUSE IN WHICH 2 COPS LIVE

Burglars who robbed an apartment at No. 901 Mass. avenue, Cambridge, of clothing and jewelry valued at more than $1,000, were either sublimely ignorant of the lay of the land or had more or less disregard for the local police.

The building that they entered during the day is within a stone's throw of Police Station No. 2. Lieutenant Thomas Coady of the police inspectors' bureau lives on the first floor. Patrolman Frederick Law occupies the third and top floor.

The burglars entered the second floor apartment, which is occupied by Mrs. Nellie Bennett. Stanley Reid, a cousin of Mrs. Bennett, was asleep in one of the rooms of the apartment while the burglars selected four diamond rings valued at $450, a fur coat worth $225, two gold watches valued at $150 each, some expensive dresses and silk goods and about $60 in cash.

Neighbors saw two well-dressed young men loitering suspiciously near the house after Mrs. Benett left on a shopping trip. They entered by a skeleton key.

If the daring housebreakers are giving the police the laugh today, the minions of the law aver the last laugh will be theirs. For they say they have identified the pair and expect to make an immediate arrest.

Colonel Sweeney Is Robbed

Thieves broke into the apartments of Colonel Walter C. Sweeney, No. 17 Fairbanks street, Brookline, and stole jewelry valued at more than $300.

DERRICK USED TO LOWER INJURED MAN

When James Ryan, a workman employed in the alterations being made on the roof of the Malden Trust Company, Pleasant street, Malden, was struck on the head by a boom there were no means at hand for getting him to the street and into a waiting police ambulance. However, John Devir, former superintendent of the Malden Street Department solved the problem by strapping Ryan to a board and lowering him into waiting arms by means of the derrick in operation on the roof.

FREIGHT HANDLED BREAKS ALL RECORDS

Washington, Oct. 10.—The volume of revenue freight loaded on American railroads again exceeded all records during the week ended September 29, when the total reached 1,027,274 cars. This was 4,707 cars more than the previous high record for the week ended September 1 and 119,483 more than for the corresponding week last year.

Except for grain and grain products, increases were shown in the loading of all commodities.

MEDICAL EXPERTS' TESTIMONY IN CRIMINAL CASES DERIDED

'ALL BUNK' IS VIEW OF LAWYER

Noted Chicago Prosecutor Says System Needs Thorough Rehabilitation

'A coroner's jury is an antiquated Anglo-Saxon tradition. Do away with it.

Conflicting statements and squabbles of learned alienists at murder trials befog and confuse judge and jury.

Let doctors stop trying to cure the body, while neglecting the mind—two things they cannot separate. Let them cure both.

Edgar Jonas

These things a lawyer told a body of doctors from all parts of the country at the 52nd annual meeting of the American Public Health Association, in the section of public health, in the Rogers Building. The speaker was Edgar A. Jonas, widely-known first assistant State's attorney of Cook County, Chicago, Ill., who has charge of criminal prosecutions.

MENTALITY OF CRIMINALS.

The burden of Attorney Jonas' address dealt with the mental aspect of the criminal class. His message to the doctors and health officials, of whom there are 1,000 in attendance at the meeting, from this country, Canada, Mexico and Cuba, was an urge that they realize the importance of doctoring mind as well as body.

He took as a basis for his address figures obtained in the physiological examination of fifty-nine homicidal prisoners, out of 100 awaiting trial, who willingly submitted to the tests. The object was to find an answer to the riddle of the mentality of the murderer. A physician of wide experience and qualifications made the tests. The prisoners were charged with murder, attempted murder or manslaughter.

DISCUSSES MORONS.

Of morons, Attorney Jonas said:

"A moron was formerly defined as an adult with a mental age of seven to twelve years. If that definition had been accepted by the United States army physical examiners during the war, 47 per cent. of the entire white draft and 89 per cent. of the colored draft would have been designated as morons. That is not so. Tables are not yet perfected.

"There is nothing distinctive in the appearance of a criminal, either, according to that report. Send a group of business men or ministers to jail for a week, take their razors away, then put them in the 'bull pen' with murderers of the same social strata and let the criminologist tell, if he can, which is which."

Mr. Jonas asked why it is that with a population of 110 millions the United States has 9,500 murders annually while Great Britain and Wales, with forty million people, have but sixty-three. One out of every 12,000 Americans is murdered each year, he said. "Are we as a race deteriorating?" he asked.

"To me, the most significant item of the report on the fifty-nine homicidal prisoners is that the mentality of the prisoners as slightly better than that of the United States draft population of the war period," said Attorney Jonas.

"The medical experts must be rehabilitated," he said. "They should be part of the court, adjuncts to the judge and jury."

SERIES OF COURTS.

As a remedy he proposed a series of courts, from local to supreme, within the courts, formed of men of nation reputation.

Sterilization is proposed for mental defectives.

Modification of criminal code statutes was advocated, with more speedy law enforcement.

"We are trying to handle twentieth century criminal problems with eighteenth century legal machinery," Mr. Jonas asserted.

SEEK MISSING GIRL IN UNDERWORLD

The underworld sections of Boston and of Providence are being searched for Lillian Waite, seventeen years old, who disappeared from the home of her employer, Mrs. Addie Moulton, at Westboro, taking with her, it is alleged, property valued at $300 belonging to her employer. The girl was on parole from the Lancaster State School for Girls. She was placed in the home of Mrs. Moulton after she violated her parole and ran away from her home in Newburyport.

A book containing the names of several taxicab drivers and Boston business men was found in her room.

CARPENTERS TO ACT ON APPRENTICES

Delegates to the twenty-eighth annual convention of the Massachusetts State Council, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, now in session at the American House, will today take action on a large batch of resolutions having vital importance not only to the members of their craft, but also to the public at large.

The principal one along these lines is that dealing with the question of apprentices.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Is Grandmother's Recipe to Darken Gray Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

TRAFFIC SIGN PROVES RIDDLE TO MOTORISTS

What's wrong with this picture?

Another problem to trouble the mind of the autoist.

Here is one sign on the sidewalk at Chauncy and Summer streets declaring the street open to ONE WAY TRAFFIC, the arrow pointing into Chauncy street.

In the middle of the street is another traffic sign. That one also informs us it is a one way street, but adds the admonition, "DON'T ENTER."

One sign tells of one way traffic in one direction while the other directs one way traffic in another direction. By arithmetic cancellation, we thus have NO WAY TRAFFIC.

FAMILY IN U. S., FATHER HELD UP AT BORDER

Lawrence, Oct. 10.—Majorique Boulanger, with his six-year-old son is detained at Newport, Vt., on the Canadian border, while his wife and four children at home at No. 103 Hampshire street wait for official Washington to untangle the red tape of the Immigration Bureau.

During the last week in September, Boulanger and his young son went to Lac Megartic, Que., where Boulanger's father was thought to be dying. When Boulanger attempted to return, he was held on a technicality at the border town.

Mrs. Boulanger went to Newport, where she was told she could do nothing. Returning to Lawrence, she brought the matter to the attention of Charles S. Bodwell, executive se[illegible] Lawrence division of the Immigration Bureau. Bodwell telegraphed the Washington officials. He expressed the belief that the family would be reunited on the American side of the border within a few days.

POLITICIANS AID RUM GANG, COX IS TOLD

A scourge of crime without precedent in history has this State in its grip.

Murder, robbery, crimes against the person, vice of all descriptions, wide-open and flagrant violations of the liquor laws and perpetration of all manner of vicious practices listed in the criminal code, hold sway throughout the length and breadth of Massachusetts.

Governor Channing Cox, alarmed over current conditions, is determined to "clean house."

Startling information was given when, following a secret conference in the Parker House, whereat police heads from thirty-seven Bay State cities disclosed in detail the alarming state of affairs.

SECRET SESSION.

Determined to obtain frank and complete reports from the police executives Governor Cox barred from the Crystal Room at the hotel all persons, including representatives of the press. The Governor and the police officers were the only persons at the conference. It lasted from one o'clock until 4:45 p. m. A luncheon preceded the conference.

The police chiefs were requested by the Governor to refrain from commenting on the matters discussed at the meeting.

But it was ascertained after the gathering broke up:

1—That police heads in Massachusetts cities said they are unable to cope successfully with the wholesale manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors.

2—That several of the larger cities are "wide open" as regards the sale of whiskey of all grades, beer of pre-Volstead strength, wines and champagnes.

3—That in many of the larger cities the police are powerless to wipe out these conditions in spite of valiant efforts.

POLITICIANS ACTIVE.

4—That political chieftains in certain cities are protecting the rum-running and bootlegging industry and profiteering handsomely thereby.

5—That murder and other crimes of violence, attacks upon females and a general wave of vice and immorality have followed in the wake of the booze flood.

6—That the conference agree that new legislation must be enacted to curtail the sale and use of firearms; that the police chiefs must weld a stronger co-operate organization for the frustration and detection of crime and the conviction of criminals of all classes.

The facts revealed, as one chief after another when called upon by Governor Cox, spoke intimately of conditions in the cities, brought forth that Massachusetts was no worse off than many another State, but that for Massachusetts, "law and order" does not now quite prevail.

And something must be done, it was agreed.

Armed officers of the State intelligence service stood guard outside the doors of the banquet hall throughout the sitting of the conference which marked a precedent in this State.

At its conclusion Governor Cox posed for a picture with the police chiefs. On his return to the State House.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

If Back Hurts or Bothers You, Take Jad Salts

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges.

Either consult a good reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

Why Are Peggy and Charlie Friendly? Broadway Asks

New York, Oct. 10.—Is Charlie Chaplin, screen comedy king who lately turned producer, a millionaire?

Movie and theatrical circles here are putting two and two together trying to answer the foregoing question.

Charlie Chaplin

Peggy Joyce

The reason for the mathematics is the fact that ever since Charlie arrived here from Los Angeles to attend the opening of his picture "Woman of Paris" he has been seen all over town with the beautiful, much married Peggy Hopkins Joyce.

Now Peggy's weakness for millionaires is as well known to the public as Midas' for gold, so there you are. Figure it out.

FATALITIES DUE TO NEGLECT BY CHILDREN

Children asking for automobile rides.

Children crossing street carelessly.

Children riding bicycles carelessly.

These are the chief causes of the alarming increase of deaths of children in automobile accidents, Dr. Payson Smith of the State Department of Education announced today.

He said that while 166 children under sixteen years old were killed in Massachusetts last year by automobiles, the number up to October of this year was 190.

As October and November are the heaviest months for accidents of this type, Commissioner Smith has started a campaign to teach children to be careful. Accidents are most frequent between 4 and 6 p. m.

He has appointed Miss Louise S. French, assistant superviser of physical education, to develop a safety program for children. In a letter to superintendents of schools throughout the State the Commissioner announced this appointment, and stated Miss French would get in touch with them for suggestions.

SEES VICTORY FOR 'DRYS' IN NOMINATION OF DALE

Washington, Oct. 10.—Nomination of Porter H. Dale as Republican candidate for the United States Senate in yesterday's Vermont primaries was termed a "great victory for the friends of national prohibition," by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League.

Porter H. Dale.

"It is additional evidence," he said "that prohibition sentiment is not receding but is succeeding."

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 10.—The vote of the State complete in the Republican primary was:

For Senator—Dale, 26,463; Redmond, 13,735; Wilson, 9,238.

For Congresman, Second District—Gibson, 7,761; Gordon, 4,375; Martin, 6,401; Stacey, 1,175; Stone, 4,615; Webb, 3,353.

COLUMBIA STUDENTS NEAR DEATH IN TANK EXPLOSION

New York, Oct. 10.—Fifty Columbia students narrowly escaped injury when a compressed air tank in the basement of Havemeyer Hall exploded, scattering machinery through walls and breaking a dozen windows. Last November chemicals blew up, killing William E. Spandow, a student from Memphis.

LITTLE BABY BOY TIPS OVER GAS STOVE; IS BADLY BURNED

Left playing alone in the kitchen of his home near a burning gas stove, Baby Francis, two years old, son of Mrs. Mary Clay of No. 31 Ryan street, South End, was severely burned when the stove tipped over and ignited his clothing. His cries attracted the attention of his mother who rushed in from another room and extinguished the flames. At the City Hospital, to which the child was taken by his mother, little Francis was placed on the danger list. He had received serious burns about the back, arms and knees. Mrs. Clay received slight burns when she extinguished the fire.

MOTHER CLAIMS BOY TRAMP AS LONG LOST SON

Portland, Me., Oct. 10.—Whether a fourteen-year-old boy who calls himself John White is her son Andrew, who disappeared from her home seven years ago, is puzzling Mrs. Mary M. Griffin, a storekeeper of Westport.

When John wandered into the Griffin store he was immediately identified by the mother as Andrew. Five of the seven children of the Griffin family agreed with their mother.

John, himself, could give little help to the mother in making identification positive. An Alice White of Bangor is known to him as mother, and Harold Smith, as stepfather. They told him he was born in that city.

After completing a sentence of three years for truancy in the State School for Boys at Portland, John says he did not care to return to Bangor and has been supporting himself by odd jobs as he wandered around the State.

May Griffin is in Portland today in an attempt to verify the identification of John as Andrew. Her next move will be to interview Alice White and Harold Smith at Bangor. There is no record, however, in Bangor of a John White having been born in that city fourteen years ago

Denby Goes Under Knife as Result of Ball Game

Washington, Oct. 10.—Secretary of the Navy Denby will undergo an operation in New York tomorrow for an injury to his right ankle received while playing baseball on his Michigan farm last month.

Sect. Denby

He pulled a tendon when he went after a grounder from his son, Ned. As he expressed it: "I was playing ball with other children of various ages."

Dr. Russell A. Hibbs, lifelong friend of the secretary, will perform the operation.

HUSBAND GETS SIGNAL MEANT FOR WIFE

Fall River, Oct. 10.—If foot signals hadn't got crossed under the supper table between Mrs. Lawrence Szerlag of this city, and Jan Zawara, who resides somewhere in Pennsylvania, Zawara would not have been sued by Szerlag for alienation of his wife's affection. The case is being heard in Superior Court by Judge Walsh, and the plaintiff asks for $1,000.

The husband said he first became suspicious while the three were at a supper table one night. "Zawara tried to step on my wife's foot, and instead he stepped on mine," said Szerlag.

Letters alleged to have been written by Zawara to the woman were introduced, and one of the letters contained the statement, "I'm sorry you are married to an old man." The husband is twenty-six years of age, and his wife is a good deal younger.

It was later brought out that the wife confessed to her husband who chased Zawara out of the house.

Men's 2-Trouser Suits or Plaid Back Overcoats

$29.50

This topcoat has a look of character that is produced by fine tailoring, good taste and a knowledge of good style. Yet the price is well within the reach of any man who wants to look his best without having to pay too much for the privilege.

The difference between custom tailoring and Gilchrist's tailoring: Custom tailoring waits for the customer to call; Gilchrist's tailoring anticipates the call. The custom tailor who'll match our fabrics and equal our styles must double our prices. But he'll not show a whit more tailoring skill—our word for that.

RUSSELL SEARS SUES FATHER; SAYS TRUST FUND IS DUE

Russell T. Sears of Quincy has brought suit in the Norfolk County Superior Court at Dedham against his father, Edward H. Sears of the Sears & Taylor Company, contractors and builders, alleging that his father failed to comply with directions in the will of his mother concerning a fund of $12,000 left in trust for him. Sears alleges that he has often courteously asked his father to pay over to him the income, as he was in need of funds with which to maintain his household, but that his father "has become very bitter against him and has refused to so much as confer with him about the trust fund." Since the execution of the deed his father has remarried.

Gross left his home yesterday afternoon for a few hours' hunting. County officials are investigating and an autopsy will be held tomorrow morning.

Jilted Hub Girl Sues For $200,000 Balm

MISS MARIE R. SLAGEL.
Boston girl, who is seeking $200,000 heart balm from John R. Dewar, New Jersey shipbuilder. She says he jilted her after a schoolboy romance.

ROMANCE OF CO-EDS REVEALED

Ex-Fiancee Says Rich Suitor Broke Promise by Secretly Marrying a Rival

Universal Service.

New York, Oct. 10.—When Miss Marie Slagel, a Boston girl, heard that John R. Dewar regarded by her as her fiancee was to be married to another girl she became a nervous wreck, and for a time it was feared she would die. Now she is plaintiff in a $200,000 breach of promise suit in the Brooklyn Supreme Court.

Miss Slagel's mother, Mrs. May Wears of Boston, at the trial testified about her daughter's condition after the shock. Mrs. Wears said that Dewar had frequently told her he meant to marry her daughter.

When he became ill at Boston in his war service with the Merchant Marine she and her daughter nursed him. Dewar had met Miss Slagel at a Pennsylvania seminary.

DENIES PROPOSING.

Dewar denied he proposed marriage to her. When he met her in New York in 1919, he said, he told her he was about to be married and she replied she was getting married herself.

Two year later, he declared, he was astounded when served with the complaint in the present action two days before he inherited the $500,000 estate of his father, a ship broker.

MISS SLAGEL TESTIFIES.

Miss Slagel alleges that Dewar begged her to elope with him and promised to marry her, only to advise her later, through an engraved announcement, of his engagement to another girl.

Dewar, when questioned by counsel for both sides, implied that the details of the youthful affair had faded from his mind.

He admitted that both Miss Slagel and himself had been expelled from the seminary as a result of their attachment. Pressed for incidents, he recalled one intimate occasion, when he was sixteen and the girl about a year older, in the home of a Mr. Shelby in Allentown, Pa.

TOGETHER IN HOUSE.

He said Miss Slagel had taken him to Mr. Shelby's house, where they spent the night alone. He could not remember having registered at any hotel with Miss Slagel, he said, in reply to a question from the girl's counsel.

Dewar testified that he was served with a summons in Miss Slagel's suit in June, 1921, just two days before he received an inheritance from his father, John R. Dewar, Sr., wealthy New Jersey shipping broker. The amount of this fortune is said to be not less than $500,000.

Robert K. Sparks of Hamburg, N. J., related on the witness stand a conversation with Miss Slagel in Hamburg in 1919. A carnival was in full blast in that city, and, Sparks testified, upon meeting Miss Slagel with several companions he was told by her:

BLAME FIREBUG FOR BLAZE AT PROVIDENCE

Providence, Oct. 10.—Police are seeking a firebug believed to be responsible for the fire which destroyed three business plants, threatened the waterfront and caused damage estimated at $700,000.

Investigators are working on the theory that a firebug applied the torch to the old Lewis Building, at Dorrance and Dyer streets, where the fire started.

FIREMEN IN DANGER.

Fourteen firemen, members of Hook and Ladder No. 1 and Hose No. 21, narrowly escaped death during the progress of the fire. A five-story wall on one of the burning buildings crumbled and came down with a roar. The fourteen firemen, who had been standing on ladders beside the wall, were warned in time by a police whistle sounded by Patrolman T. F. Sammon.

The Lewis building, where the fire started, was occupied by the John D. Peck, Inc., hay and grain dealers. The flames spread quickly to the plants of the Providence Coal & Wood Company and the Eastern Coal Company. These buildings were destroyed. Other buildings in the neighborhood were ignited and suffered some damage.

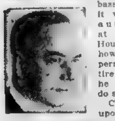
OUTSIDE HELP CALLED.

More than 350 firemen fought the blaze for more than three hours before it was under control. These firemen comprised the Providence fire department and firemen from Bayside, Oakland Beach, Lakewood, Conimicut, Pawtucket, Central Falls and Woonsocket.

Several firemen on the roof of a shed in the yard of the Providence Coal Company's plant jumped to safety as a wall of the shed caved in.

COOLIDGE WANTS CHILD TO REMAIN

Washington, Oct. 10.—President Coolidge hopes to retain Richard Washburn Child as American Ambassador to Italy, it was asserted authoritatively at the White House. Mr Child, however, will be permitted to retire at any time he desires to do so.



Ambassador Child

Commenting upon conflicting reports relative to Mr. Child's status, a spokesman for the President explained that the matter of the ambassador's resignation was first taken up with the late President Harding. The entire matter will be settled when Mr. Child reaches Washington.

DISABLED VETS FIGHT FOREST FIRE

The disabled veterans of John P. Holand Vocational Training School at East Norfolk became volunteer firemen to help fight a recent fire.

The fire started in the old fish and game reservation and on account of the dryness of the trees raged all day. It was finally put under control.

Breast-Fed Babies Win Best Scores in Tests at Boston Health Show

Announcement of Winners of First Group Examined Leads to New Rush of Entrants to the Contest

Nothing as good as mother's milk for babies.

This teaching of Boston health authorities is demonstrated in the examination of Boston babies in the glass house at the Boston Health Show in Mechanics Building.

Without exception, the babies with the high scores are breast fed.

Announcement of the high scores made by the first of the babies examined had led to a veritable rush of mothers and fathers to enter the contest.

They said they didn't want a prize but did want their babies examined by the specialists at the baby house.

All such inquirers were told that they were too late for the baby show contest, but they could have their children examined if they would notify the City and State health authorities. Entries for the baby contest have closed.

Robert Louis Althshuler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Althshuler of No. 12 Buckminster street, Allston is still the leading baby with a score of 98 points.

Of the babies examined on Monday, about half have been reported upon by the judges, who are hard at work on the score cards. In this second group of babies the highest score is that of Coralie Webster Stanley of No. 162 Springvale avenue, Everett. This little beauty, twelve months old, scored 97.5 per cent.

Others reported upon as being leaders in the ninety or more babies who were examined on Monday are the following:

Mary Elizabeth Myles, No. 394 Riverway, Brookline, twelve months old, scored 94.9.

Eileen Katherine Lavery, No. 75 Medford street, Medford, eleven months old, scored 94.8.

Irene Anna DeBlasio, No. 65 Baldwin avenue, Everett, ten months, scored 92.6.

Josephine Constance Merenda, No. 30 Woodlawn street, Everett, thirteen months, scored 94.2.

Frank Pasquale Baffina, Jr., Winchester, fourteen months, scored 92.6.

Channing Hale Elliott, No. 65 Johnswood road, Roslindale, fourteen months, scored 13.5.

Robert Edward Denneen, No. 455 Hancock street, Norfolk Downs, fifteen and a half months, scored 95.8.

Leo Macavero, No. 96 Walworth street, Roslindale, twelve months, scored 93.5.

Leo Lynch, No. 727 Broadway, South Boston, fourteen months, scored 92.9.

The picture of the baby being weighed at the Health Exposition printed in yesterday's American was that of Sylvia Melnick, two years old, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Melnick, of No. 23 Sutton street, Mattapan.

PUNISHED FOR FAKE ARREST

Bill Collectors Are Jailed and Fined for Intimidating Hull Man

"There is justice."

So declared Frank L. Shea of Hull when two Boston bill collectors, who falsely arrested him when he did not have funds to meet an obligation, were given heavy court sentences.

Shea is a typical member of the much-maligned "middle class." He works hard for a living. He meets his financial obligations. But sometimes, a streak of hard luck forces him to delay payments on his accounts.

THREATENED SHEA.

A. W. Bitterson and J. H. Grady of the "S" Collecting Agency in Boston, were sent to collect on an account. Shea was out of funds and politely requested the collectors to call on a later date.

The collectors threatened Shea with arrest and Shea said something about not being able to get blood out of a stone or words to that effect.

"You're under arrest. Come with us," said one of the collectors. Shea put on his hat and was taken to the Hull police station.

FILED COMPLAINTS.

At the station, the collectors were informed they had no authority to arrest Shea, and Shea was told he could prefer charges of false arrest and impersonation of officers against the collectors, which he immediately did. The two men were given summonses to appear before Judge Pratt in the Hingham Court.

Judge Pratt listened to Shea's story; he listened to the stories of the two collectors. Then he declared the collectors to be guilty of impersonating officers of the law and pronounced sentence. Grady paid a fine of $50, Bitterson [illegible] sentenced to five months in the Plymouth jail for [illegible].

LITTLE BOY DIES OF ODD MALADY

Haverhill, Oct. 10—Joseph C. Travers, twelve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Travers, Georgetown, who suffered from a strange malady which physicians were unable to diagnose, died at the home of his parents. The child was removed to the Massachusetts General Hospital when he became afflicted but Sunday he was taken home. His condition became so serious. The glands in the neck began swelling and later extended to the neck and head. Physicians are still puzzled over the nature of the illness.

EX-WIFE OF FERNALD IS HELD

Former New Bedford Beauty, Three Times Wed, Locked Up as an Addict

New York, Oct. 10.—To the records of Essex Market Court was added today the name of Helen Smith of Jersey City, charged with possessing narcotics. She pleaded guilty and was locked up in default of $500 bail.

Behind this terse record is the story of Clara Russell, daughter of a whaling captain of New Bedford, Mass., who ran away from home at eight to go on the stage, and, as Elaine French, played in the chorus of The Maid of America, The Hippodrom, and Over The Top.

Soon after her last success on the stage she married the son of Bert M. Fernald, United States Senator from Maine. They were divorced and she has been married twice since.

To detectives who arrested her she said she was Helen Smith, and related part of her down hill story. Confirming facts were obtained from distant relatives at the Jersey City address, where her step-sister lived until her death two months ago.

When arrested a [illegible] detectives said the woman was [illegible] cocaine, two vials of which were in her possession. The woman, who is thirty years old, a [illegible] but did not tell of her long struggle with drug addiction since her [illegible] years on the stage.

After her divorce from Senator Fernald's son she married Raymond Fails of Portsmouth, Va. She obtained a second divorce and married Lieutenant Samuel Walker, a West Point graduate, stationed at Fort Worth, Texas.

She told the police she had once owned her own automobile and had spent $5 a day for drugs.

HAD CONCUSSION OF BRAIN, WALKED HOME

Although advised by City Hospital physicians that he had a possible concussion of the brain, Edmund E. Hennessy, 38 years old, of No. 9 Hall street, Jamaica Plain, asked to be released and went home unassisted. He was brought to the hospital by the police after he had fallen down a flight of stairs at the Forest Hills elevated terminal. He was treated for minor [illegible].

Boathouse Burns

A fire of unknown origin destroyed the Dedham bathhouse off East street, Dedham. Damage was estimated at $500. The building is a one story wooden structure about fifty feet in length.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG

CLARA K. YOUNG ACCUSED BY MILLIONAIRE

Los Angeles, Oct. 10.—Charges and [illegible] of bathing parties on the silver sands of Santa Monica shores were set forth today in the answer filed by Joseph Sachs, wealthy Pasadena millionaire shop proprietor, in reply to a suit brought by Mrs. [illegible] Sachs for separate maintenance.

Sachs alleges that his wife was induced to leave her home at the instigation of Clara Kimball Young, a motion picture actress, and that she is residing with Mrs. Young in [illegible] avenue, contrary to his wishes.

MISSING VETERAN SOUGHT BY WIFE

Mrs. A. F. McMahon of No. 14 Lynde street, West End, has [illegible] the police to find her [illegible] John P. McMahon, World War veteran, who left home two weeks ago. He is a magazine salesman and [illegible] usually at fairs. [illegible] he may be at Stafford Springs, Ct., where a fair is being held.

J. P. McMahon

He is thirty-seven years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 170 pounds. His right arm hangs limp at his side, his shoulder having been shattered overseas. Any information as to his whereabouts will be appreciated by Mrs. A. F. McMahon, No. 14 Lynde street, Boston.

GLYNN RADIOS TALK ON FIRE PREVENTION

Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn gave an address on fire prevention through the radio which was broadcasted to hundreds of Massachusetts folks from Station WNAC, Shepard Stores, in connection with fire prevention week.

T. A. Glynn.

Glynn said that citizens at large should co-operate with the fire department in their respective localities. A prompt report of a fire will bring a prompt response by the department, he said. He further said that Boston was doing everything possible to prevent fires and told of the many important factors that are responsible in preventing fires.

EXPERT FEARS FINANCIAL CRISIS IN RADIO BROADCASTING

By A. B. HOAG,
Radio Editor.

New York, Oct. 10—Radio broadcasting as now carried on in the United States is unsatisfactory to everyone concerned, and the money expended to operate broadcasting stations under present conditions is not warranted.

This is the opinion of W. E. Harkness, manager of broadcasting for the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, who spoke before a meeting of radio dealers and manufacturers at the American Radio Exposition in the Grand Central Palace.

In the first place, according to Mr. Harkness, there are too many stations now engaged in broadcasting.

PUBLIC MUST PAY.

"Over 150 concerns in the New York metropolitan area in the past year desired to purchase radio broadcasting station equipment," he said. "If these stations had been installed it is evident that neither they nor the public would have been satisfactorily served."

Another unsatisfactory feature of radio broadcasting is the need for some way of meeting the increasing cost of operation.

"The public must contribute in some way toward the support of high grade radio broadcasting stations," he went on.

"Numerous plans for the support have been proposed. In our experiments during the past year at WEAF, we have been studying among other things the value of radio broadcasting as a medium for direct advertising. While we have not completed our study, we have indications that this offers a partial source of support."

RAPS PROFITEERS.

"Up to the present time the talent furnishing the programs have generally furnished their services free of charge. This cannot indefinitely continue, and sooner or later the artists must be compensated. This will materially increase the cost, as the public will demand the best."

The practice of manufacturers in artificially boosting the price of radio apparatus was rapped by H. Gernsback, editor of Radio News.

"I am not an advocate of selling [illegible] for nothing," he said, "but I believe that most of the radio material that has been sold in the past year has been sold at an artificially high level. The result has been big discounts to the trade which was followed by cut prices by less reliable dealers.

"Manufacturers have learned their lesson and the price of all classes of radio merchandise has receded from the 1922 high level."

URGES SIMPLE SETS.

Mr. Gernsback gave a big boost for the single control set.

"I believe the biggest single mistake of the radio industry today is that we insist on forcing on the public outfits that the average man cannot operate. I doubt whether there are five people in a hundred who can operate a modern set that has four, five controls upward by means of printed directions alone. Radio will not be as popular as the phonograph until we have learned to build our sets with a single control."

NEW LIQUID BRINGS BEAUTIFUL WAVY HAIR

Puts Charming 7-Day Curl in Even the Stubbornest Hair

A new liquid has been discovered which means an end to bothersome old-fashioned methods of curling and waving the hair.

Just a few drops of this liquid makes the hair fall in soft, fluffy waves and beautiful natural curls—the kind that everyone loves and admires. An application takes but a few moments—yet it gives the stubbornest hair a charming, permanent wave effect which lasts 7 to 10 days, and often longer.

This new beauty discovery is called Domino Curlette. It is entirely different from anything known before and the results it brings are almost marvelous. No need to ruin the hair with hot permanent wave irons. Use the good old fashioned kid curlers, but before doing so just moisten the hair with a few drops of Domino Curlette. Then watch the results. You will be amazed at the wonderful improvement in your whole appearance.

Get Domino Curlette today for just a small price. Money back if you are not pleased.

Get it at your favorite store today. If they haven't it in stock send one dollar ($1.00) plus ten cents (10c) postage to Domino House, [illegible] South [illegible] Street, Phila., Pa.

WOMAN'S HEALTH RESTORED

She Claims Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did It After Everything Else Failed

Milwaukee, Wis.—"I feel that I ought to let you know about my case. I was ailing and could barely do my housework and washing I was so run-down, just from having one child. I took a lot of medicines and had doctors. Then I gave them all up and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel wonderfully good now. I do every thing that comes along, and we all take your medicine as a tonic when we don't feel just so. I am thankful for what the Vegetable Compound has done for my health and for my family."—Mrs. MARY SAJECHECK, 944 28th St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Letters like these testify to the value of the Vegetable Compound. These women speak from the fullness of their hearts. They describe as correctly as they can their conditions: first, those symptoms that affected them most conspicuously; and later the disappearance of those symptoms. They are sincere expressions of gratitude. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so praised by women.

A recent canvass reports 98 out of every 100 women are benefited by

Try it first, prove the way to restore Gray Hair

You are right to be skeptical in regard to any preparation offered to restore gray hair. So many can't do the work—so many only further disfigure your hair.

A trial on one lock of hair is your safeguard, and this I offer free. Accept this offer and prove for yourself that your gray hair can be restored safely, easily and surely.

I perfected my Restorer many years ago to bring back the original color to my own gray hair, and since, hundreds of thousands of grey haired people have used it. Results just as satisfactory when hair has been bleached or otherwise discolored.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this home-made cough syrup. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. It tastes good, never spoils and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

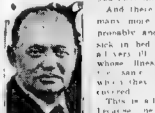
SECRETS OF HEALTH

A GOOD WAY TO CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

By Charles A. A. Reed, M. D.

Former President of the American Medical Association.

A YEAR ago today—let's say this is your birthday—you were well. You lived a vigorous life and a successful year and are still feeling well after the lapse of the intervening twelve months.



Dr. Reed

But are you entirely well?

Have you been absolutely well during that period?

"Why, certainly," you reply rather testily, "I haven't had a thing the matter with me. Of course I had a little cold when the weather changed. A few weeks later I had a little sore throat, but it passed off right away. A couple of weeks ago I had the toothache, but my dentist killed the nerve and plugged the tooth and I'm all right now. Of course, I don't count things like that."

Now, my friend, let me talk to you plainly.

You may be—mind you, I say may be—as perfectly well as you think you are. The "little" troubles you speak of may have cleared up as you think they have.

But, on a safe estimate, there are this very day in the United States more than a quarter of a million people in the consultation rooms of the more than 150,000 physicians of the country who have not recovered from precisely the same "little" things you have mentioned.

And there are more than this many more in the hospitals and probably another similar number sick in bed at their own homes, all very ill, many of them dying, whose illness began in precisely the same little things from which they thought they had recovered.

This is all to be accounted for because the trouble following a cold or a sore throat or a toothache may be so insidious, so hidden, so painless as to escape your attention until the real damage has been done.

In other words, each of these three conditions is caused by germs.

The only way to get rid of them is to find them, and the only way to find them is to have yourself carefully examined.

The American Medical Association has started a campaign suggesting that you have a health examination on your birthday.

The only better suggestion is to have such an examination sometimes between birthdays.

WAYS OF A HUSBAND

SEQUEL TO "WHEN A GIRL MARRIES"

By Ann Lisle

"I won't let you do this. I won't [illegible] You shan't bind yourself [illegible] preposition," stormed Pat. "It's your heart's blood [illegible] drop by drop [illegible]

[illegible] "You [illegible] a mad woman," [illegible] Pat, turning to me a face [illegible] was actually haggard. "[illegible] ever for [illegible] and my after happiness [illegible] Do you think I feel like less than a murderer when I [illegible] hearing your voice tremble [illegible] speak of the lad you [illegible] And now it's money. It's like blood money. I'm taking you, as it passes from your hands to mine."

"You can do one thing for me," I answered, refusing to let [illegible] pass out of unhappiness away me. "You can prepare some sort of legal document which you and Carlotta can sign as I bring [illegible] five thousand-dollar instalment."

Pat looked distraught. But as he opened his lips to speak, the door opened and Carlotta came briskly into the room.

"Carlotta, talk to this mad woman," cried Pat. "There's nought I can be doing with her. [illegible] thousand dollars she's been [illegible] for getting together to pay us [illegible] the sixty thousand in twelve instalments. What do you [illegible] foolishness?"

Carlotta's manner was in utter contrast to Pat's as she picked up the sheaf of bills, flapped them through her fingers and took a chair near mine.

"You're a wonder, Anne!" she said, waving her hand largely [illegible] embraced the full confines of the Dalton Sturges office. "I'd feel exactly the same way in your place. But that doesn't change the fact that you've made good with a vengeance. Remember when we used to call our organization your 'little new baby of a business'? Well, it's a fine child now—lusty and thriving and I congratulate you on your success."

"Carlotta!" stormed Pat. "Have you been after losing your senses, too, or is it me ears that are after going back on me? It's never a woman with a woman's heart that [illegible] sitting there and [illegible] another woman and [illegible] friend [illegible] to such [illegible]"

[illegible] interrupted Carlotta. "But Anne will never be satisfied until she pays back the money."

"As Anne's independent [illegible] more and more [illegible] Well she [illegible] we're [illegible] Only take your time [illegible] I think you're very foolish if you commit yourself to any time [illegible] You've got sixty years ahead of you [illegible]"

"I'll allow myself two or three," I said quietly. "I hope to make more and more money as [illegible] goes on. Of course, if Neal comes back before I've paid his loan [illegible] he's well and able [illegible] ing to take this off my hands. If I [illegible] You must both understand [illegible]"

Carlotta smiled blandly. Pat scowled. [illegible] I asked crisply:

"May I have a receipt?"

And as [illegible] acquiesced with my request [illegible] called in the notary [illegible] to set his seal on the document we drew up formally, I had a sudden foretaste of the [illegible] I'd [illegible] when the day came [illegible] which I acquired a document [illegible] 'Paid in full.'"

For the Yankees Manager Miller elected W[illegible] to step on the rubber. These selections were subject to last minute changes

The day was perfect for a world's ball game. A warm breeze from the Harlem River close by moved the hundreds of pennants on the Yankee grand stand lazily

Wally Pipp, recent cripple with an injured foot, warmed up with the Yankees to play first base. He was pulled out of the lineup at the last moment [illegible] hinges patronage to the remainder

Upon the result of today's game of the series. If the Yanks win today and tomorrow, the series may break all records for crowds. If however the clan of McGraw cops these two games, the wiseacres say, the series will be a bust.

New York likes excitement but the Big Village is quite fed up on seeing the Yanks plastered by the McGraw-led National leaguers.

Last year the clan of Ruth didn't win a game. They tied one, the famous "called off on account of darkness" contest. All others the smart Mr. McGraw took away from them with ease

The year before the series wasn't even close and [illegible] was not as today that the Yanks would scarcely win

Still the magnates were so sure that interest would be at fever pitch for the present contest that they increased the prices. Fans only paid from $1 to $6 for their seats

By mid afternoon a crowd of more than 1,000 persons had lined up at the ticket gates. The first [illegible] for the reserved seats were Mr. and Mrs. James W. Aldridge of Raton, New Mexico and their friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Dec of Elmira, N. Y. They arrived at the Stadium at [illegible] a. m.

Another early arrival was [illegible] Patrick J. [illegible] of New Haven, Ct.

At midnight, fans with more determination than money took their places before the ticket booths at the Yankee Stadium to make sure that they would have a seat [illegible] door

There were only a few at that hour. The one who arrived first was Arthur Yarish from Bronx. He was warmly dressed and had a box (soap) seat

Wherefore the Babe was the big figure of these last preparatory hours [illegible] than the [illegible] tickets [illegible] at Yank pitchers [illegible] noted McGraw strategy and the whole lot of it

Knowing all the [illegible] a big young man should be fretful and worried but he isn't. He is one of those birds naturally constructed to rise to great heights when the situation beckons. And it's waving frantically in his direction just now as it never did to any other athlete before.

In the almost forgotten [illegible] Giant triumph [illegible] wasn't ready. He is now [illegible] prepared to crush through the brilliant array of Giant defences. The canny McGraw may outguess him or lure him into a tumble from his superb equilibrium.

Those who favor the Giants think this will happen, believe the Babe will be passed and slowballed until his goat goes scampering over the stretches of the two big league baseball orchards.

THEY SAY THE BAM WILL MAKE GRAND FINISH

Those who favor the Yanks heartily opine that the Bam will finish a grand season with an extra burst of popeyed baseball fire. So this one individual hauls this intercity collision far above the ordinary and monotonous affair it might be, makes it one of the great sport events of a brilliant athletic decade.

The baseball crape hangers predicted plenty of empty seats at this third exclusive series. But the knockers the past few days have retreated from the anvils and been [illegible] this [illegible] as previous [illegible] real cripple was Wally Pipp, who sprained his ankle hopping off a [illegible] weeks ago.

BABE RUTH 'THE BRUTE' FIGHTS McGRAW'S BRAINS

By ARTHUR ROBINSON.
Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

New York, Oct. 10.—Baseball's greatest drama begins at the Yankee Stadium today

The Giants, champions of National League, meet the Yankees, champions of the American

Babe Ruth, high priest of the theory of brute force, takes his third and most important stand against John McGraw, baseball's master mind.

Close to 65,000 people will be present.

The stage, old and friendly phrase, is set. The nation attunes its ears. All roads—inevitably—lead to the Stadium.

Today is the day

At the rise of the curtain very [illegible] is known. The pitchers [illegible] decided upon until game time. [illegible] Arthur Nehf or McQuillan. Hugh is an unexpected candidate—will pitch for the Giants. John Watson is a possibility.

[illegible] is the most probable selection. He has done well against Yankees in the past. Jack Scott, one of the outstanding figures of last year's series, has a heavy cold.

NEHF IS THE MOST PROBABLE SELECTION.

Waite Hoyt, the youngest pitcher in the big leagues or Herb Pennock, a thin, fragile looking [illegible] der, but a great pitcher, will start for the Yankees. Sad Sam Jones, author of a no-hit game, is a possibility. But if the day is dark and cloudy Bullet Joe Bush or Bob Shawkey—fast ball pitchers will be called upon.

Hoyt is favored because he has pitched brilliantly in four world's series games against the Giants. The Giants know what he has done. They respect his ability. They expect to see him in action today. Hoyt—very confident young man—hopes to be able to show 'em.

New York is in a lather of excitement over the series. The country at large, too, is tremendously interested, but for three years the New York teams have had a monopoly on the series and some resentment against this circumstance is felt in the big league cities

But all is forgiven and forgotten now. The games the thing and

All the world's a stage,
And all the men . . . merely players;
They have their exits and their entrances,
And one man in his time plays many parts.

The Babe is pleased to agree with Shakespeare. Last year he played the part of a goat. The year before he played the part of a bust. In his time Ruth has played many parts. He sighs for a new part. And, on the basis of his remarkable playing this season, it is generally expected that the drama will reveal him as the hero of the series

For gone is the Ruth of yesteryear. In his stead a disillusioned conscientious, hardworking genius has arisen. The fates will indeed be unkind to him, if, in this, his year of atonement and repentance, he emerges a failure once more

A man of a thousand successes, the Babe since his ascendancy as a home run hitter has been a world series jest.

Entering the series, Ruth is the man who came back. He was a good fellow when he had it; but he has regained his high baseball estate and the respect and affection of the baseball community.

This duel will be one of the highlights of the series, and by the result the Yankees will succeed or fail; for as Ruth does so have the Yankees done. This has been the Yankee's greatest year. It's also has been Ruth's greatest year.

His team has done as the Babe has done. It won the pennant by a margin unprecedented in the history of the league. Not once during the season did it lose more than three games in a row. Those who count upon the Yankees to win from the Giants do not expect them to slump now — for the first time this year.

For this reason the Yankees remained favorites at 11 to 10, although there was a decided tendency toward even money out of consideration that the Giants beat the Yanks last year and the year before

MOST OF THE BETTING IS AT EVEN MONEY

Considerable betting was reported, mostly even money. Out-of-town fans are arriving on every incoming train. Ticket speculators did what they generally do—a thriving business—and up and down the bright lights there was much talk of the Babe and McGraw, and the probable results of the series

Hotel accommodations were exhausted. Baseball officials club owners visiting newspaper men and old time [illegible] congregated at the Commodore, series headquarters, and Broadway restaurants and the theatres teemed with out-of-town fans

WORLD'S SERIES HEROES QUICK TO FADE OUT

New York, Oct. 10 (A.P.)—Batting feats in World's Series, although eclipsed in brilliance by the work of the pitchers, have been the outstanding features in many games of the annual classic

Few players have been able to gather as many as four hits in one World's Series game. The records show ten men to have accomplished this feat.

In 1903 Tom Leach of the Pirates gathered two singles and two triples off Young of the Red Sox. Clarence Beaumont, Pirates, accounted for four singles off Dineen of the Red Sox in another game of the same series

Frank Isbell of the Chicago White Sox doubled four times in the October 13 games of 1906 off Reulbach, Pfeister and Overall of the Cubs. Another White Sox player, Edgar Hahn, bumped Brown and Overall of the Cubs for four singles in another game of the same series.

In 1908 Ty Cobb, of the Tigers, spanked the ball for three singles and a double off Pfeister and Reulbach of the Cubs

Larry Doyle, New York Nationals, found Coombs and Plank, Athletics, for two singles and two doubles, October 25, 1911. The following day Yankees. Frank Frisch batted out three singles and a double off Wiltse, Ames and Marquard, of the Giants

Three New York Giants collected four hits in the 1921 series with the Yankees. Frank Frisch batted out four singles off Carl Mays' delivery October 5.

In the October 7 game, with Shawkey, Collins, Quinn and Rogers pitching for the Yankees, George Burns connected for two singles, a double and triple, while Frank Snyder, the Giant catcher, made four singles

The batting star of last year's Giant-Yankee series was little Heine Groh. In the last game Groh walked once and connected for two singles and one triple off Bush and Hoyt.

Many Records Sure to Go by Boards

New York, Oct. 10—All baseball attendance figures, all financial records for a World's Series game will be broken today, provided there is no change in the weather.

The Yankees have sold 25,000 reserved seats for the first game of the great test with the Giants. They have 18,000 more seats to sell at $3.30 and 18,000 in the bleachers to sell at $1.10.

Exclusive of war tax the sub-divisions figure.

Box seats	$20,340
Reserved seats	107,335
Unreserved seats at $3	54,000
Bleachers at $1	18,000
Total	$199,675

To reach this financial showing, 62,000 persons must attend today. There should be more than that. The best attendance recorded was for the fifth game of the World's Series in 1922, when 38,243 paid admission. The financial return was $118,384.

WHAT THE RIVAL MANAGERS SAY ABOUT SERIES

By UNIVERSAL SERVICE

MANAGER McGRAW OF THE GIANTS

A bitter fight, and the Giants to win. It is my belief that man for man we have a better club than the Yankees, and think the series will bear me out. The Giants have the ability to come through at the crucial stages, have proved it. In my opinion, they not only have a real punch, but the ability to land it at the opportune time.

A year ago many called our hurling staff a poor one, but we got good pitching when it was required. The Giants' staff today is fully 20 per cent. stronger than last year, and the rest of the array has not fallen off in strength.

Ruth has had a great year, and he may be a considerable factor, but last year and the year before we had the same danger before us, and we got over it.

I feel confident the Giants will win. I hold opposition was stronger in our league than in the American this year.

MANAGER HUGGINS OF THE YANKEES

It is my opinion that, although the Giants may have it on us in one or two places, we have it on them in others, and that in pitching we have a marked advantage. The Giants' pitching staff is not weak, but the Yankees' hurlers should carry us through to victory. In fact, I consider Jones, Hoyt, Pennock, Shawkey and Bush the best string in the game.

We didn't lose more than three games in a row all season, I believe, and that means our pitchers can stop a losing streak before it really gets started.

Pitching and the breaks, other things being equal, count the most in a short series. The breaks went against us last year, but it isn't in the cards for them to run against us all the time.

This also seems to be Babe Ruth's year.

If the Giants can hold us to the low batting average they did last year I shall take off my hat to them. I don't think they can.

Judge Landis will be the umpire-in-chief at this series. He has taken over the important matter of calling games off because of rain and wet grounds and things like that. So the umpires haven't a worry left.

Mac Tells Pitchers to Put 'Em Over for Ruth

John McGraw asserts that his pitchers will put them over for Babe Ruth.

"We pitch to Hornsby and Roush and Wheat in our own league. These birds hit the ball just as hard and often as Ruth or anybody else ever did," chirps the Giants' manager, as he gets ready to go out for the all important first game.

"Ruth didn't break up any games in the last two series, and we have no reason to fear him any more than anybody else. He's a great ball player, but the Giants have plenty of stars in there, too."

And that's that.

PAPYRUS NOW FAVORED

ZEV SHOWS UP FASTER THAN PAPYRUS IN SPEED TEST

RIVALS OF TURF FIT FOR RACE

By TASKER OGLE.

New York, Oct 10 — J. B. Joel, owner of Polymelus, England's greatest stock horse and one of the greatest breeds of thoroughbreds in the world, was at Belmont Park at sun-up when the British Derby winner Papyrus galloped his first mile and a quarter on American soil.

Mr. Joel is the man who offered $200,000 for the son of Tracery on the eve of the running of the Doncaster at St. Leger, in which Papyrus was beaten by Tranquil.

He would be willing now to pay a quarter of a million dollars for the horse, his friends say, although he is not confident Papyrus will run his race at Belmont Park October 20, when he meets Zev in a gallop of one mile and a half for the world's three-year-old championship and a purse of $100,000.

A "SLOWISH GALLOP."

Mr. Joel rates Papyrus as good a horse as was his own home-bred Pommern, a son of Polymelus which won the New Stakes of 1915, the war time substitute for the Doncaster Street Leger, covering one mile and three-quarters in 2.55 3-5 and setting a world's record.

Rockminster equaled this record in Kentucky last Fall when he beat Lucky Hour half a length in the fourth Latonia championship.

Basil Jarvis did not give Papyrus the sort of work an army of clockers and trainers hoped he might. He held to the program he announced for the colt Sunday when he said Papyrus would have a "slowish gallop" Tuesday, a faster one Thursday and a real "blowout" Saturday.

With Ted Banham kicking, Papyrus turned his mile and a quarter in 2.16 2-5. Beginning in leisurely fashion, he loafed the first quarter in 29 seconds, the first half in 56 3-5, the three-quarters in 1.22 3-5, the mile in 1.48 3-5.

He got the last quarter in a shade quicker time than 28 seconds as simple subtraction will show.

STEPS OUT FREELY.

Papyrus is not an ambitious galloper. He goes about his work soberly, but he stepped out as freely and frictionlessly over the lightly cushioned main course as he had earlier last week on the deeper training course.

Opinion of American trainers as to the value of Papyrus [illegible] varied. Most would have preferred to have seen a horse of [illegible] against the [illegible] harder than he [illegible] in the first half mile.

But all agreed that the invader showed plenty of [illegible] he finished. His physical appearance left nothing to be desired. His coat wore the [illegible] of perfect health, his eye was [illegible].

Zev, a little after Papyrus had left the track for the [illegible], showed the [illegible] speed. The brown son of The Finn breezed [illegible] furlongs hard [illegible] in 35 1-5, the [illegible] furlongs [illegible] 47, the [illegible] 1.23 2-5.

Zev is [illegible] gallop of one mile and a half, it would seem, would fit him for the [illegible] of the 20th.

Philadelphia Tunes Up Its Horn

By TAD

ALL you guys who have been giggling about Philadelphia's place in the baseball world just sit still a moment until you read further on. Philadelphia does not consider baseball as the greatest test of athletic [illegible] ability.

You may call it the Unconscious City if you like, but a Quaker City scribe the other day came out with a blast that was a top. He pipes that William T. Tilden only recently proved himself to be the greatest lawn tennis player the world has ever known. Right after Tilden copped his honors Mr. W. F. Garrett Gilmore, also of Philadelphia, won the world rowing championship.

He says:

"A city that can claim Jack Kelly, who several years ago [illegible] rowing [illegible] as Tilden now dominates the tennis world, and then after that Kelly's [illegible] undefeated [illegible] with another world's champion is stepping out in this branch of athletics, you know.

Leary of Fordham is particularly active at the time of breaking through and worrying the punter.

New Davis Cup Defenders Needed to Retain Trophy

It has become a habit with us during the last three or four years to speak of the superiority of American lawn tennis. The [illegible] of our Davis Cup team and of Tilden and Little Bill Johnston [illegible] various champions both in Europe and [illegible] have [illegible] in us a feeling of security [illegible] national competition that an analysis of the situation [illegible] hardly warrant.

WILSON GIVES FANS LOW-DOWN

Johnny Wilson has made it known to his New England friends that he is going to win back the middleweight title. He never fought better than when he lost to Harry Greb.

SPORTING BOSTON AMERICAN

SUBURBAN LEAGUE OPENS FRIDAY

The Suburban League officially opens on Friday with the eight teams in the circuit getting down to hard pan. The preliminary games have put all members on edge for the season's tilts.

GREB HAS CREATED NEW INTEREST IN MIDDLEWEIGHT CLASS

CHAMPION HAS ABILITY TO BATTLE ALL-COMERS

By JACK CONWAY

Harry Greb, one of the wonder men of the ring, has created new interest in the middleweight boxing division. The division once ruled over by Stanley Ketchel is today as active as the bantamweight class which has a dozen star performers.

Greb plans to box once [illegible] week if possible. Middleweights and light heavyweights will both receive consideration from the marvelous Pittsburgh fighter.

Greb normally weighing 163 to 165 pounds [illegible] 158 pounds in his recent contest with Johnny Wilson. Despite the low weight, he managed to outpoint the hard hitting Wilson who fought the greatest battle of his career.

Greb probably will not make the middleweight limit for many of his [illegible] as it is [illegible] easy for him to [illegible] 160 pounds. At 163 to [illegible] pounds Harry is one of the marvels of the boxing game. He has [illegible] his ability [illegible] men weighing as [illegible] as 200 pounds.

[illegible] as much trouble when [illegible] against the [illegible] weights as when opposed by middleweights. He is able to keep moving around the big fellows [illegible] speed that he dazzles [illegible]

TOM GIBBONS WAS EASY FOR PITTSBURGH FIGHTER

Johnny Wilson weighing [illegible] pounds gave Greb the hardest [illegible] of his career. This [illegible] been due to the fact Greb was weak at his own [illegible]. Wilson was [illegible] good power [illegible] his [illegible] smashes.

Greb [illegible] to take [illegible] all [illegible] fellows. In [illegible] to [illegible] Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia in the [illegible] bout of ten rounds at the Fan[illegible] A. A.'s show at Mechanics Building tomorrow night. Greb [illegible] near his own weight.

Loughran [illegible] were [illegible] 165 pounds [illegible] of his weight [illegible] world. He has [illegible] Mike McTigue in [illegible] contests in Philadelphia. Tommy dropped [illegible] the Quaker City. Greb later won a close decision over Loughran [illegible] in New York.

The fact that the rivals are [illegible] making weight for their [illegible] tomorrow night means that they will enter the ring with all of their strength [illegible] The fans will see a [illegible] the case [illegible] weigh [illegible] of 160 pounds.

The [illegible] pel him to show everything [illegible] in the fighting line is another [illegible] why the [illegible] will prove [illegible] drawing card.

WILSON AND ROBINSON TO BE NEXT IN LINE

Hardly will have [illegible] by the blows of Greb and Loughran [illegible] when Johnny Wilson, former world's middleweight champion, and George Robinson of Cambridge will [illegible] in a ten round bout at the [illegible] A. A.'s show at the Boston Arena on [illegible] night.

[illegible] Wilson [illegible] is today a much better fighter than [illegible] was as champion. [illegible] is not worrying about losing his [illegible] will more [illegible] and dash. Wilson has always been a much [illegible] fighter [illegible] not until his tussle with Greb that Wilson was really appreciated by the fans. GIANTS ARE THE CHOICE TO BEAT YANKEES

THE HORRORSCOPE, By A. SEER.

This is a fortunate day—for those who cut in on the Big Series. Mammon is in the ascending and rapidly getting no lower. Which reminds one of the B. and M. seats will be higher at the Polo Grounds tomorrow. The bleachers have been double-decked. Those, whose birthday it is will wish they never had been born, if their ticket happens to be behind a post.

The stars portend a bear movement in Big Bam. The Sinistra sign of Nehf augers a partial eclipse, starting at 2 p. m. Speculators beware. Those who bet on the Yanks will get Hoyt, as they say in New York.

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Westward move industry, capital, men.

The leap across the Atlantic may be said to have taken place during the last ten years.

The advance across our continent is now [illegible].

* * *

The cotton manufacturing industry in New England has been passed to the South. The steel plants of Pittsburgh are being [illegible] by Gary and other western centers. New York's great garment making industry is being challenged by Chicago. The oil industry has [illegible] moved away from Pennsylvania westward. The manufacturing of farm implements and machinery is carried on not in the East, but in the Middle West.

That giant new industry, motor car making, did not take up its abode along the Atlantic seaboard but farther inland. Another new but by no means infant industry first sprouted its wings in New York, but as soon as it could fly capably, it flew clear across to the other side of the continent: motion picture making's permanent address, Hollywood, California.

Hydro-electric developments may have made the first forward steps in the East, but California [illegible] advanced more and [illegible] electricity [illegible] than any other State.

The headquarters of that mammoth industry, packing, is in what we Easterners call the Middle West, Chicago. Minneapolis is the American home of flour manufacture. Another Minnesota city leads the United States in another important industry, furniture making. Dayton, O., is the home of the cash register. Farther west we find our vastly important copper industry. The lumber industry is steadily creeping westward, ever westward; its main stronghold now is in the States of Oregon and Washington.

And so it goes almost all along the gamut of industrial activity. Why, one Pacific Coast city alone is at this moment doing nearly as much building and construction as New York city itself—Los Angeles.

* * *

I have been started off on this train of thought by a visit from one of the ablest and finest business leaders in America, Wigginton E. Creed, president of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., and publisher of other far Western enterprises, who got chatting about plans which have been successfully launched for developing the manufacture of iron and steel products out there. What is being done will doubtless be news to most people.

* * *

California's iron and steel activities in the past have been confined to [illegible] scrap iron.

A number of forward-looking citizens, however, some time ago conceived [illegible] establishing something very much more ambitious. The Columbia Steel Corporation was [illegible] such men as Creed, William H. Crocker, Herbert Fleishhacker, John Drum, J. D. Grant, W. [illegible] Alexander and Joseph Sloss of San Francisco, W. W. A[illegible], A. C. Ellis, Jr., and L. F. Rains of Utah and Eugene Meyer, Jr., of New York.

* * *

A coal mine has been developed at Columbia, near Price, [illegible] and pig iron works at Provo and Iron Springs, Cedar City, Utah.

Pig iron is now being shipped 800 miles to the company's important steel mills at Pittsburgh, near San Francisco, and 750 miles to mills at Torrance, near Los Angeles. Here sheets, rods, wire, nails and various products [illegible] previously manufactured on the Pacific coast, are being turned out.

* * *

What the company is doing [illegible] workers [illegible] I hope to refer to by and by.

* * *

As illustrating [illegible] industry westward, Mr. Creed told me that both the General Electric Company and Westinghouse [illegible] building additional plants [illegible] San Francisco, in the East Bay section. The [illegible] branches of large con[illegible] ing their present [illegible] East. Other industries [illegible] are likewise [illegible] the demands of [illegible] lation [illegible] Western country [illegible] to the Orient.

* * *

I've been hearing so much [illegible] that I am to head thither in a few days. Seattle, I am told, is doing big things.

* RESALE DEPARTMENT

OPEN EVENINGS

GOOD RESALE VEHICLE AT PRICE CONCESSIONS

Very large concessions, in many instances—perhaps on the very car you have longed to own.

Our business methods applied to the selling of new Dodge Brothers Cars (recently substantially improved in comfortable riding qualities and appearance) has brought unprecedented growth.

This very growth now proves embarrassing because the incoming Resale vehicles will overcrowd the buildings we occupy.

So—to make room—we revised prices.

Yet, price is not the whole story. The cars are different—the whole foundation of this business is the quality of its motor vehicles.

BeSuretoHearLloydGeorge

He Is the Greatest Public Man Today in the British Empire

We hope that everyone who can will take the opportunity to see and hear David Lloyd George, if he makes a public appearance in Boston.

We know well that opinion concerning Mr. Lloyd George is divided here. The radical Irish-American will look upon him askance; and so will the Tory element. But it was not long since when, just before the war, the Tories hated him, while the Liberals all over the world loved him and believed him to be the greatest living Liberal. As Chancellor of the Exchequer, he was making speeches which not only thrilled Great Britain, but the intelligentia of America in favor of more just taxation in England and in favor of breaking up the greatest estates so that a few might not have pleasure parks which they never enjoyed and the rest fo the country might not starve for want of soil in which to plant their food. He was bitterly hated by the well-to-do and loved by the middle classes and that portion of the so-called lower class. which had any intelligence.

The war showed him to be as great an executive as he was an evangelist. Economic facts have moved perhaps faster than he did so that while once he led the vanguard now he is riding somewhat in the middle of the column of progress. But he is a man of great experience, of great forensic ability and great courage and political adroitness. He is unquestionably the greatest public man in the British Empire. It will be an education to see and listen to him.

Fire Prevention Week

Heads of Families Ought to Instill Into Their Minds the Danger of Carelessness

There is no effort in psychology capable of producing better economic results than the practice of devoting a week to dinning it into the public minds that carelessly set fires are an abomination and a tremendous loss to the material welfare of the community and utterly, wickedly unnecessary.

The head of every household ought to join in the Thirteenth Annual Fire Prevention Week to instill into the minds of his family that carelessness with respect to fire is dangerous to life and to property. Our fire experts have given us the causes of most fires and the means of preventing them. The heads of our families ought to devote the week to drilling this into the heads of the family group so that they all may become fire fighters. There are ten times as much destruction by fire in America as in Europe. That means ten times as much carelessness.

Get the lists of these "do's" and "don'ts" from the news columns of this newspaper and read them to your wife and children or to your husband and children and make them learn it by heart. The psychological effect of merely learning these "do's" and "don'ts" will be helpful.

An American Standing Army of 4 Millions

It Exists, and Is Growing

Copyright, 1923, Star Co.

Suppose anybody suggested that this country should have a standing army of four million men, at a minimum cost of four billion dollars a year. Can you imagine the uproar? Yet we HAVE such a standing army. The public servants of different kinds, national, State and city, all on the public payroll and costing more than four billions a year, number more than four millions. It is certain that at least half of them are unnecessary, superfluous. And a standing military army of the same size would cost half as much.

Unfortunately, the country is ruled by politicians whose strength is based on the jobs that they have to GIVE AWAY. They struggle to make the jobs more numerous. Similarly our judges are all recruited among lawyers, and, being PROMOTED LAWYERS, they naturally and usually take the lawyer's point of view. That's what makes justice so expensive and so slow. That's why it does not pay a poor man to fight for his rights in the courts of this country.

Self-government is no child's play, and justice beyond the reach of the poor is a disgrace to a republic.

Our Supreme Court a Noble Body

But No One Should Rule This Nation

Copyright, 1923, Star Co.

This nation calls itself a republic, meaning that it is governed by the majority of its inhabitants.

As a matter of fact, it is governed by nine Supreme Court judges and, from time to time, by one single man on the Supreme bench. That man, appointed for life, is entirely beyond control of the people whose servant he is and the President who appointed him.

When the Supreme Court divides four on one side and five on the other, one man, the fifth of the majority, is able to undo the work of Congress and nullify the will of the people. Any nation willing to endure that is content to do without self-government.

Eunice Fitzgerald

A representative of the Army and Navy Club has just rendered a fine tribute to Eunice Fitzgerald, who died of tuberculosis which set upon her while she was a victim of overwork in the army camps and canteens.

Early and late her slender figure and delicate hands were seen serving in the canteens on Boston Common. Regularly she took the hard trip to Ayer and Camp Devens, serving in the coffee house and hospitals. For this service she practically forsook her own circle.

In this, of course, she did no more than thousands of other Americans girls, but she gave more than most of them because she was not strong and to have done it at all required her to give all she had—life itself.

SAYS JAZZ MUSIC IS PASSING

DENVER, Oct. 10.—Good-by, jazz!

Your syncopation has had its fling.

In words to this effect, Peter W. Dykema, professor of music in the University of Wisconsin, announced here that the jazz age is passing. He declared that the National Community Service expects to aid in the staging of a "Music Week" in more than 1,000 cities in the United States during next year.

Jazz is the Coney Island of music world," Professor Dykema said. "It is for those who desire excitement more than art

Right Kind of Mettle

Editor Boston American:

While riding downtown recently I lost my purse. Later, the purse and all contents excepting the money were returned with the attached note: "You need these things more than I do. I am out of work, so the money comes in handy. Maybe I will be able to return the money some day, so I will keep the name and address." The note was signed "Just a Boy," and I am writing this to assure others that I don't look upon this boy as a wrong-doer, but as merely a victim of circumstances who shows the right kind of mettle.

Chance for Thrill

Editor Boston American:

If M. J. Sullivan, who insists he would not push a baby carriage, will kindly call upon me I'll give him the thrill of his life. I'll let him push my youngster around the block and even let him receive the compliments I as the father invariably receive while on such pleasure excursions. You understand me, don't you, Mr. Sullivan? Just sort of break you in for the future, and when your time comes you're going to be prouder than a bootlegger with his first diamond stud.

Offers Boys as Help

Editor Helping Hand.

Is there any reader of your paper that would help me out by taking my three boys on a farm or country home? They could be a big help to somebody, as they would be able to work for their board and room. Their ages are fourteen, twelve and eleven. I am unable to care for them for this Winter and thought some reader would help me out, as I must break up housekeeping.

MRS W. E. K.

Widow Needs Help

Editor Helping Hand

I am a widow that needs help. I have two grandchildren to take care of. I need a Winter coat and am very handy at making over clothes. My grandchildren are two big girls, ten and six years of age. Any help will be appreciated.

MRS. C. D.

Six Tots Need Clothes

Editor Helping Hand·

MRS. M B.

Mrs. B. H. B.'s Gratitude

Editor Helping Hand

Just a few lines to thank you for the wonderful help you have been to me. I have sent each one of the kind people who have helped me a letter of thanks, and now I want to thank you all together. You don't know what a load has been taken off my mind. Believe [illegible] after some of my bills are [illegible], I am going to try and do something for your wonderful helping hand work. May God bless you and the kind readers. All luck and success to your wonderful paper.

MRS. B. H. B.

Husband in Hospital

Editor Helping Hand:

My neighbor has told me about your helping her sister to get clothes for her baby, so I am writing for myself. I have two children, two and three years old, and I expect another soon. Can you help me for the two I have and the one that is coming. My husband is in the hospital suffering from cancer of the throat, and I do not know if he ever will come home again. Anything for the children will come in handy.

MRS. C. E. R.

Boy Wants Books

Editor Helping Hand·

I saw in your paper that a lady had some books to give away and if they are not already taken I would like to have them. I cannot go to school as I am not strong enough, and would like to have something to read to pass the time away.

F. G.

Woman Needs Clothes

Editor Helping Hand:

Having been ill for months, I have been unable to work and have been depending on relatives who are depending on their week's pay to get along. I am unable to get the proper nourishment to get my strength back. I have a little family. My husband deserted me when baby was three years old. Would some kind reader have some lace curtains and a carpet for my room—it is so bare? I wear size 40 in clothing, and shoes, size 5. I also would appreciate elastic corsets. It's so hard to be sick and to have no one to help me

MRS. W. S.

Needs Bed Clothing

Editor Helping Hand:

I am badly in need of a coat for Winter. I expect a baby in a few months. I also need bed clothing, like sheets and blankets. I live in the country and have two children who sleep outside for their health. A pair of shoes, size 8, would be appreciated.

MRS J. N.

Mother of Five Needy

Editor Helping Hand·

I have five children and have had so much sickness it takes about all for the doctor's bills and food. If anybody has coats or underclothes to make over I would be glad to get them, also a lady's coat, any size. I have three boys and two girls, the oldest 14. Will be grateful for anything.

MRS. L. A. R.

Vet's Wife Appeals

Editor Helping Hand·

I have had an awful hard time this past Summer. My husband has been in the hospital six weeks. He was an ex-service man. He has just started to work now, but can do no heavy labor and gets only $18 per week. I am to become a mother in three weeks and I have no baby clothes. There may be someone that has a used carriage or crib they do not want. If they could give it to me, it would be a very great help. I also need clothes for myself, size 38, and shoes, size 1 to 3. If anybody has any bed sheets or pillow cases I would be very grateful for them, or something that I could make over.

MRS. M. G.

Asks Clothes for Girls

Editor Helping Hand:

I wish to thank you and the kind lady, Mrs. W. R. M., for the boy's clothing she sent me, as it has helped me very much. If I am not asking too much, I would like a few clothes for my two girls, eight and nine years old, or something I could make over for them, or a few things for my crippled mother. She wears size 40 or 42. Thanking you all for the great kindness you are showing to the poor. May God bless you!

MRS. L. S.

Poor, Pleads for Aid

Editor Helping Hand:

We are poor. We need things such as shoes, size 8; pants, size 38; coats and vests. We are both sick. We have no money with which to buy things. Perhaps someone will be kind enough to help us.

A SURTOUT WHICH DOESN'T FIT OUR CASE

By Herbert Kaufman

DIPLOMACY for five years has been dazedly wandering through a labyrinth. It's still there.

Up to now, the gentlemen who more or less eagerly determine peace and war, have failed to recognize the devious environment.

Overnight developments, however, portend a dawning realization of their plight.

Since 1918 the Versailles treaty has mislead Europe's hopes.

Growing familiarity and experience with the paper pattern by which destiny was to be lastingly recut betrays the futility of sewing all races and rancors into a political surtout.

America early discovered that the document wouldn't button over the Monroe Doctrine and detected the likelihood of forever losing self-control in one of its many deep, dark pockets.

France, tailor-in-chief of the treaty, saw to it that a few members of the Geneva body would be thoroughly covered at the expense (literal and figurative) of the rest, to whom scant skirt space and disproportionate maintenance cost were allotted.

Monkey and Hot Chestnuts

Day by day, the League of Nations, originally represented and putatively intended as a dispassionate monitor of universal rights, reveals itself in the possession of certain powers which arbitrarily decide when and where and how it shall be invoked or disregarded.

Padded by Abyssinias, Persias and Iraks, trimmed with the empty authority of lesser nations—among whom we should be automatically relegated in matters of decisive opinion—its true character slowly dawns upon statesmen who belatedly learn how France has cunningly made them monkeys to handle her marrons chauds.

Poincare's collection methods, Mussolini's Corfu gesture, Turkey's star role in the farces of Lausanne, Rome's independent cackling of the Fiume question, the fast shriveling fruits of Baldwin's last attempts at conciliation, together justify Earl Grey's moody intimation that nothing can prevent another catastrophic outbreak unless present ideas and ideals are reformed.

Lloyd George Sets Up His Easel

Following fast after the revolt of colonial Premiers against Downing Street sovereignty and Curzon's sharp rip at the Entente's seams, Lloyd George, speaking at Montreal, finds his conclusions in distinguished company.

Growing irritations produced by the Versailles prescription, increase doubts as to its remedial quality. Who should better know the faults of a cure-all than one of the chief compounders of that ineffectual panacea?

The only real statesman-at-large pleads for a composition of outstanding differences and paints imagination with a shuddering alternative of conflicts which will move hell to the heavens and leave reeking smoking pits where mighty cities stand consume total populations with laboratory torches and sweep continents with poison brooms.

Glue for Humpty-Dumpty

He warmly advocates acceptance of Secretary Hughes' international commission plan to investigate Germany's resources and determine what maximum indemnity she can pay.

It is not too late for consideration, but if much longer rebuffed by the allies, even the Hughes scheme won't repair breaches swiftly gaping under hate-blinded Europe.

Such amounts as once might have been justly demanded of the Reich are no longer available there.

Victory must remember strangled earning power and diminished productivity.

Berlin, also alarmed at prospects, prepares for the establishment of a dictatorship.

Humpty-Dumpty civilization needs all available wiseacres, not horses and men, to get back on the wall again.

Fresh Laurels for Our Brows

The State Department discloses a note of censure to China, because of laxity in restraining and punishing bandit raids.

Some day, a visiting sight-seer, pausing on Michigan avenue or viewing the beauties of Central Park, will be kidnaped by local bandits. Then we shall get a note.

If a Belgian or an English woman, instead of Cleo Rockhead, had chanced to walk past the Nostrand Garage in Brooklyn as a gang of burglars was escaping with a stolen car, it's just as likely they'd have made way with her.

The same parsimony that enforces ridiculous limitations of army and navy is also apparent in municipal defence budgets.

Main Street Jungles

Crime statistics show the United States leading in all manners of violence and felony.

More murders occur here—and more murderers escape—more holdups happen in America—and fewer outlaws are captured than anywhere else in the world.

Social morale has come to such a sorry pass that jungles begin to be safer than Broadways and Main streets.

The daily total of payroll grabbings and store stickups reaches an incredible figure.

The climax is spectacularly capped at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, where three dapper, young gunmen invade the lobby, smash a corridor jewelry case and ride off with four thousand dollars' worth of plunder.

Now that we've adopted accident prevention week, management week, fire protection week, why not a general house-cleaning week, a week during which citizens and officials, land-over, devote themselves to the ending of criminal arrogance and arrogant criminality?

People living in a glass house of their own can't very well afford to throw stones at China's.

THEY will never make a romantic opera out of this story, for though the principal characters are an artist and his penniless model the last act is not love in a garret, but propriety triumphant before a board of inquiry at Ellis Island.

Curtain Up

The Artist (indignantly): "But I was sorry for the girl! The only sporting thing for me to do was to offer her the hospitality of my studio!"

The Girl, (tearfully): "I never heard of such a country! Can't I pose for a picture without the whole town talking? Can't I accept simple kindness without becoming a criminal? Besides, I only slept in his studio one night——"

The Board (shocked): "You did WHAT?"

The Girl: "Slept in his studio one night——"

The Board: "Deport her! Deport her!"

Curtain Down

And if you want to know the complete plot of this idyl of present-day bohemia in New York, here it is in the words of the principals themselves:

Miss Gladve Westby, Heroine of the Rumpus in Bohemia, in a Picturesque Pose with Tso Kay, the Little Goc of Luck.

First Publication of the Exquisite Oil Painting by Artist Cutts for Which Miss Westby Posed and Which Caused a Tempest Reaching Across the Atlantic.

By Miss Gladys Westby

WELL, here I am back in "staid and solid" Britain, and what I have to say is the same thing I said when I was leaving the "land of the free"—so THIS is bohemia!

My picture of bohemia, you understand, was quite different when I left the home of my parents in the quiet and respectable East End of London a year ago. I had been to "La Boheme" at the opera, I had read stories about the Paris Latin quarter and the American Greenwich Village, and I imagined life among the painters and poets, where everybody did exactly what they pleased and nobody said tut-tut, must be the most delightful in the world!

I didn't go to the United States to seek adventure, however, but to get married. I was engaged to Thomas Artindale, an immigration official at Tucson, Arizona, and he was to meet me on my arrival. He did. But I soon discovered I didn't love him. We had a quarrel and I left him and decided to try my luck in New York. The old idea of bohemia bobbed up again.

I was living in a girls' club in the forties, but I spent most of my days trotting around from studio to stuuio to see if a model was wanted.

One of the men I was posing for was Mr. George Cutts, the illustrator. He was doing a picture of me for a magazine cover. His studio was at No. 39 West Fifty-seventh street. He did all his work there and lived somewhere else.

I had to give up my room at the girls' club because I didn't have the money to pay for it. When Mr. Cutts heard what a hard time I was having, he was sorry for me. He said: "See here, I've got a small room off the studio I don't use for anything except to put junk; I'd be glad to let you sleep there for a few nights until you know what you're going to do."

I didn't hesitate a minute to accept the offer of Mr. Cutts. I've seen "The Prince Chap," where the artist takes care of the poor little street waif in his studio and then marries her when she grows up. But I didn't have any romantic ideas about Mr. Cutts. He's a married man with several children and is crazy about his wife. It isn't true they are separated.

If I got any thrill out of staying in Mr. Cutts's studio, it wasn't because of him, it was simply the idea of living in an artist's studio. It was unconventional, perhaps, but —wasn't I a Bohemian among Bohemians? I never had the slightest idea that "wild and wicked" New York would get excited about a little thing as tame as that!

When the immigration officials took me in charge and told me I might be deported, I was absolutely amazed. And when, after the hearing, they actually DID deport me, I couldn't believe it. I had slept one night in an artist's studio when he wasn't even there, and because of that I wasn't fit to stay in America! Bohemia! As they say "over there," it's the bunk!

By George Cutts

(In an Interview)

MISS WESTBY? Please don't ask me about her! That business made me so disgusted I never want to hear her name again! Not that she isn't a very nice little girl—she is all of that. Only I can't think about that case for a second without groaning.

The facts are so simple I don't see why anyone should doubt them for an instant. Miss Westby was my model. I did several things of her. Naturally we talked to one another between poses.

When she told me she had a wonderful opportunity in the movies, I was pleased for her sake. And I was sorry when I heard she was having such a hard time getting along until work began on the picture. It was the most artless and innocent thing in the world to offer her the use of the little room at the studio for a night or so.

Love her? Why she's just a child! Besides, I love my wife and my four children.

But the red tape and blue laws of this country——!

Well, I'd better not get started.

Only I will say this—I'm planning to build another studio. It will be designed so I may work right in the bosom of my own family where the children can play with the pallette knives and the wife can sit in the next room and watch the artist and his model as long as she's a mind to.

George Cutts, the Illustrator, Who Says, "My new studio will be especially designed so my wife may be near me at all times!"

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

FINANCIERS claim that the high cost of living has come way down, and it has. You can now buy a steam yacht for less than eight hundred dollars.

NOT only that, but elephants don't cost nearly as much as they used to.

HOUSEWIVES will be tickled to death to hear that the Pullman company can purchase their trains for ten per cent less than they paid last year.

AND it will take a big load off her mind to know that Ringling Brothers are now able to buy two ant-eaters for the price that they used to pay for one.

THE average man doesn't mind working for twenty-five or thirty bucks a week when he reads that a large automobile company has reduced the price of their cars from fourteen thousand dollars down to thirteen thousand five hundred.

HOWEVER, this won't do the working man much good because that price doesn't include bumpers or skid chains.

PEOPLE who pay rent will shout with joy when they hear that a castle in Spain can now be rented for less than half a million a year.

BUT they're bound to be disappointed again due to the fact that this castle can only be rented from month to month.

OWING to such ridiculously low rental, the owner doesn't feel that he could afford to give anybody a lease.

NEXT month a furniture house is going to have a sale on electric chairs and hang-man's scaffolds.

WHEN you pick up the paper and see where man-hole covers, church steeples, water-wagons, freight engines and suspension bridges have been reduced in price, you can't help but believe that the cost of living is coming down.

BE YOURSELF THE DISCOVERER OF YOUR FAULTS AND WEAKNESSES.

Ever try finding fault with yourself?

No? But it is a good thing to do, however.

Try to be perfectly impersonal, and then begin to look for flaws.

If you are honest you will discover more faults and weaker spots than your friends have guessed about you.

Now, for instance, have you not done things this very day that you regret?

Were you not unnecessarily cross when you got up this morning?

Were you not abrupt and rude to someone who has a right to expect courteous treatment from you?

You will be glad that everyone does not know what you know about yourself and the best of it is that, knowing these faults, you have a chance to rectify them.

It need not take long, but it is a good thing to give your conscience a job and a prod once in a while.

Is it not better to do it for yourself rather than discover it through the worlds of a friend or an enemy?
